STARTING A FIRE proved difficult over the weekend as patrols of Boy Scouts from Charleston and Sikeston attended the camporee at Lyle Bird farm. The scouts were allowed two matches on this string burning contest. The fire could be made with kindling only and the strings placed at a height of 18 and 26 inches. The Scouts were successful after dry wood was found.

Camporee Successful On Lyle Bird Farm

The wet weather over the weekend did not cancel the Okeechobee camporee at the Lyle Bird farm, as 200 Boy Scouts completed their camping requirements.

Nine troops were represented at the camporee, and were from Sikeston, Charleston, New Madrid and East Prairie.

The troops were divided into patrols, and the contests were divided in such manner that all patrols were able to score in the point system in two categories, ranging from 550 to 840, and a higher system from 840 to 1,000 points. All nine troops managed to receive a ribbon award, with Troop 59, Sikeston, receiving the top award with 886 points. The average for the nine troops was 750 points.

The training included inspection for a correct Scout campsite, fire building, rope lashing for campsite activities. The intermittent showers did not hamper the activities, but caused inconvenience to a number of leaders and sponsors who drove to the campsite, and were stuck on the soft roadway leading to the campgrounds. A tractor was kept busy early Saturday pulling some of the cars through the mud.

Lilbourn Youths Held In Butler County Robbery

POPULAR BLUFF -- Two Lilbourn youths, Bobby Eugene Melton, 21, and Lonnie Allen Reid, 18, are being held in the Butler county jail for robbery committed sometime Saturday night.

The robbery occurred at the Carr Bargain Barn, five miles south of Poplar Bluff on highway 153, where Malden police apprehended the pair.

Stolen property in the amount of $571 was recovered by the Malden police, which the two admitted stealing. The two were also implicated in a second robbery of another country store, near the St. Francis bridge, the same evening.

Today, authorities in New Madrid, stated they would interrogate the two youths for robberies of at least a half dozen places in their county.

Trial Reset

MEMPHIS, Tenn. -- The involuntary manslaughter trial of Joel Montgomery, wealthy Sikeston civic and business leader, was reset today for May 23.

The trial was originally to begin today.

Montgomery, charged with involuntary manslaughter in a 1950 fatal traffic accident, abandoned a four-year fight against extradition and flew here Feb. 15 to surrender. He was released on $2,000 bond and was not in court today.

Montgomery's automobile, in which he was a passenger, was involved in a collision which took the life of Miss Glenda Wiles.

The driver of the car, Miss Betty Lou Sells, was sentenced to three years on an involuntary manslaughter charge but the Tennessee Supreme Court reversed the conviction. Her trial, also scheduled today, was also set for May 23.

Second Person Charged In Jewelry Burglary

A second person has been charged with burglary and stealing by Sikeston police in connection with the Wright's and Hale's Jewelry Stores break-ins committed Friday night.

Chief of Police Arthur Bruce said this morning that Robert A. Jones, 36, 614 William, has been charged with entering the Hales Jewelry Store.

James Curtis "Monkey" Rose, 24, 846 Vernon, was apparently caught in the act Friday night while breaking into the Wright's Jewelry store front window by police officer Robert Adkinson.

Officers found Hale's Jewelry store, across the street, also had been broken into. Entry was made through the front door. A sack of jewelry was found inside the building.

Bruce said Jones was seen in the same automobile about an hour earlier with Rose.

Rose and James have been out of the Missouri State Penitentiary less than two months for a Stoddard County burglary.

Jones has been arrested by Sikeston police 15 times. Rose has been arrested 16 times.

It has been learned that there are Ku Klux Klan Klaverns in Dexter and Cape Girardeau.

This was learned by Robert Collins, of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, from the newly appointed Missouri grand dragon, whose identity has been withheld.

The grand dragon said the one at Dexter is "showing the most promise."

He disclosed there are several hundred active klansmen in Missouri. Two years ago there were only 40 members in the state.

Violence and cross burnings will not be tolerated in the Missouri Klan, the leader said.

Tomorrow voters of Scott County will march to the polls to vote on reorganizing the county's seven school districts into two larger districts, R-1 and R-2.

The new R-1 district would be composed of present districts R-1, R-2, R-3, R-4 and C-7. Only voters in those districts will vote whether to form the new R-1 district.

The R-2 district would be made up of present districts R-5 and R-6.

Heavy voting is anticipated in the polling places that are to open at six a.m. and remain open until seven p.m.

Harold Vogel, administrative assistant at Sikeston schools, predicted 2,119 votes will be cast in the Scott Central and Sikeston election.

It is thought that the vote in the northern districts of the county likely will fail.

The polling places in the northern districts are: Kelly High School, Blodgett Schoolhouse, Commerce Masonic House, Diehlstadt Schoolhouse, Lusk Store, Illinois City Hall, Scott City City Hall, Oran Gymnasium, New Hamburg School, Chaffee Elementary School and Chaffee City Hall.

In a meeting held Thursday night in the Oran Gymnasium, Superintendent R. E. Sharp of Oran Schools, said the two districts in the southern part of the county would not face the transportation or building problems that would be encountered in the northern portion.

The Oran board of education reported 6-0 against reorganization at this time.

Approximately 40 units are presently being offered at the Oran High School. It was admitted that more courses could be offered.

Sharp also said, "It would be extremely doubtful if the combined districts in the northern area could furnish the bonding capacity to build a million to a one and one quarter million dollar plant which would almost certainly be imperative for such a large undertaking."

"If this is true, then each high school would be forced to remain in the same location until adequate bonding capacity was possible, offering no advantage for some time, but creating much confusion."

Polling places in the southern part of the county are: Sikeston -- Airport School, Southwest School, Lee Hunter School, Junior High School, Matthews School, Miner City Hall, Morley Elementary School, Vanduser Elementary School and Scott Central high school.

AMERICAN BIKE MONTH

Along about the turn of the century, bicycling reached the dimensions of a craze in this country and abroad. Cycle clubs on a coeducational basis were formed everywhere and were the source of lasting fun for young and old. Cycle racing found a vast audience. There are people still active to whom the old high-wheeler brings back nostalgic memories.

In time, the bike had ran its course. Use of the cycle was pretty well confined to the very young. But in recent years, it has again found its popularity increasing. Bike clubs have been coming back in many places. Bike sports, formal and informal, are attracting a respectable following.

That gives significance to American Bike Month, which is scheduled for the May 1-31 period. Its purpose is both simple and important: "To help make cycling healthier, happier, safer, and more fun than it already is." The bike rider of today lives in a world that is vastly different from that of fifty or sixty years ago. Streets and highways are thronged with automobiles, and every one of them offers potential disaster to the carelessly ridden and handled bike. The rules of bike safety must be thoroughly learned--and undeviatingly followed.

Cycling is a healthy sport and a fun sport. It's good to see it on the upswing once more. And the heavier the emphasis on safety, the better it will be.

The Colonel told his sons: "Nothing pleases a woman so much as to have her husband pay her a little attention when other women are present."

LET GEORGE DO IT

Democratic voters in Alabama will go to the polls on Tuesday (May 3) to choose candidates for Governor, U.S. Senate, and U.S. House.

THE DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY in Alabama is the first pragmatic test of the Voting Rights Act of 1965. Although on the surface the new legislation may seem ineffective, a revolution in the politics of the Deep South is already evident. Like most revolutions, it may take several courses before a new order is established, and it may well eat its young.

The situation in Alabama is not unique, but it is most unusual. All the interest--from the point of view of a distant observer--centers about the race for Governor. The expected opposition to Sen. John J. Sparkman has evaporated except for Adm. John G. Crommelin (Ret.), an extreme right-winger and four-time loser, and two others who do not need to be identified. The gubernatorial field has 10 entries, but only five really count, and of these five one is almost an odds-on favorite. Inasmuch as Gov. George C. Wallace is constitutionally barred from succeeding himself, he is running his wife, Lurlene, to keep title to the executive mansion. She says if she's elected she'll, "Let George do it."

THE FOUR SERIOUS OPPONENTS of Lurlene-George are former U.S. Rep. Carl Elliott (1949-65), a moderate; state Attorney Gen. Richard Flowers, a segregationist turned liberal; State Sen. Bob Gilchrist, who blocked a constitutional amendment that would have given Wallace a chance at a second term; and former Gov. John M. Patterson (1947-51), a recent moderate.

The five other candidates not given much chance include former Gov. James E. (Kissin' Jim) Folsom (1947-51, 1955-59), who has taken a good look at the registration lists, and one Eunice I. Gore, who says that God asked him to run -- and that will give you some idea of politics in Alabama. The Republican nomination, incidentally, will go to Rep. James D. Martin, conservative segregationist.

The reason all these adjectives don't mean very much is that Alabama suddenly has about 230,000 registered Negro voters -- about a fourth of the total.

ONLY ONE GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE, Attorney Gen. Flowers, is making a direct appeal for Negro votes. But even the Wallaces don't speak of segregation as such, and as of mid-April an Alabama reporter said that he had yet to hear at a political rally the word "nigger." Wallace does preach states' rights, local government, and "our property ownership system," and his white listeners know what he means.

Patterson, previously an explicit segregationist, now says Alabama will lose out if "we continue the loud, defiant, no-action-but-talk demagoguery course now set." Elliott pledges to "reopen the lines of communication with Washington." Gilchrist calls himself "the only real conservative in the state," but he too sounds off about the "demagogues" who have "planted the seeds of discord."

The chances are that Flowers will get a pretty solid Negro vote, despite his opponents' attempts at fractioning. But he would have to get 85 per cent of the black vote to get into the May 31 run-off with Lurlene-George.

On the other hand, Lurlene could take it all with a majority vote and avoid a run-off. In any event, she looks a sure candidate, and a sure winner, even if, improbably, the Negroes should bolt to Republican Martin in November. It looks as if George most certainly will be doing it.

Enough information has been printed about the proposed reorganization of the Sikeston and Scott Central school systems into a single district so that every citizen living in the two districts can vote intelligently.

Only informed citizens should vote. Any citizen who doesn't understand the issues involved or the basic proposal should stay away from the polls Tuesday.

Many issues have been introduced into the election but the single, overriding one is what procedure provides the best education for the children living in the two districts?

Some, perhaps many, votes will be cast on a basis of prejudice or from ignorance. Actually prejudice is a form of ignorance because it closes people's minds before they can make an intelligent decision based on the available information.

It isn't too late for any citizen to inform himself. It will be time well spent. Tuesday's election is important because the future of the children in two districts is involved. The quality of the education that they will receive will have a great influence on their future. The public schools are the cornerstone of that education.

The consensus of opinion at the coffee table is that an undeclared war is just about as expensive as the regulation kind.

If a person, particularly a public servant, is 'big enough' to say something, then certainly he should be big enough to be held responsible to the public.

During the last two months, we have sent one of our newsmen to cover events that are transpiring in the Charleston R-1 School District. The last two times he was present at a board of education meeting, the doors were closed after he was asked to leave the room.

In a meeting held Wednesday afternoon, the board of education did not even vote to close the doors. The president rendered the decision himself to bar-the-doors.

In most instances, a newspaper just has to report that barred-door-sessions are being held and the public will demand that the doors be left open at all times, which is not asking too much, unless of course the board is taking unlawful or immoral or purely selfish actions.

Why do public officials who do not have anything to hide from the public feel they can consistently operate behind closed doors to conduct the public's business?

Since the beginning of newspapers, politicians and public officials conduct business in a fashion that would not meet approval of the public.

For them newsmen have created problems and rightfully so, for a newspaper's function is to translate and report information to the public.

Sure, it seems all right to say the records or minutes of public meetings are open to be reviewed by anyone.

What public officials do not realize, is that oftentimes, it is not what has happened that is important, it is the things that bring about the decisions that is the real story. And the events that bring about a public officials decision is the most often kept from the public.

Dr. Harris B. Stewart, Jr., chief oceanographer of the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, says: "We are most intrigued by the great potential that the ocean holds for the betterment of mankind. It is man's last great resource on earth. The time has come to realize that if we are to survive on this earth, we must first understand the intricate workings of the global sea and the role this great body of water will play in the future of the race."

More than 4,000,000 persons were killed or injured on U.S. highways in 1965.

This grim message is contained in The Travelers Insurance Companies annual highway accident booklet, which reports 48,500 deaths and 4,100,000 injured last year. Statistics in the booklet were compiled from reports by state motor vehicle departments.

The trail of death and destruction in 1965 marked the first time the casualty count has exceeded the 4,000,000 level. Fatalities increased by one per cent over 1964; injuries were up by seven per cent.

Young drivers--those under 25 years of age--again led the list of offenders. And their collective record in 1965 was substantially worse than in any previous year.

History lesson: Can you name the U.S. president who introduced or helped make popular in this country such foods as french fries, spaghetti and vanilla ice cream? It was Thomas Jefferson, obviously no friend of dieters.

Worth remembering: "Do not resent growing old--many are denied the privilege."

From 1950-1966 (fiscal years) state tax receipts per capita increased by 178 percent; local tax receipts by 162 percent. Federal, by 144 percent. Federal, state and local taxes per capita combined increased 152 percent.

A SMALL BOY'S MOTHER BY MARGARET SANGSTER

MY LITTLE son came racing in today And gave me flowers, tissue-wrapped, and said, "I saved my pocket money, all of it. To buy them for you; and I chose the red Because they're gay and sort of seem to sing. Carnations, Mom; and every other one Was pink or white and sort of sissyish." So said my little son.

I took him in my arms and held him tight; The tears were very close behind my lids. He whispered, "Hey, Mom, keep this to yourself, 'Cause they'll make fun of me, the other kids, If they get wise. I hope you like 'em, Mom." And, kissing him, I murmured, "That I do! Like them? I love them almost As, darling, I love you!"

SAFETY PINS ON THE RUN!

The public relations man at a certain company has come up with some figures showing Americans last year drank 2 billion gallons of beer, smoked 550 billion cigarettes, chewed 16 billion aspirin tablets, ate 2 billion pieces of candy, consumed more than 3 billion quarts of ice cream and mailed 3 1/4 billion Christmas cards--and oh yes, drove 800 billion miles.

How'd we have time for all of that? Elementary, Mr. Watson. The statistics also showed we used an estimated 1.5 trillion safety pins. We were so busy we pinned up our pants, shoulder straps, and shirt cuffs etc.

Simple, Mr. Watson, when you think about it.

At the traffic window at city hall, the man looked displeased as he paid his fine. When the clerk handed him a receipt, he growled, "What am I to do with this?" "Keep it," replied the clerk. "When you get 10 of them, you get a bicycle."

WAS WHEAT CREDIT BILL UNDERSTOOD?

There were many reasons for concern about the so-called wheat deal when it was first brought up. Those reasons have not been altered. For one thing, the word "deal" rang harshly in the ears of those who feel we should not

"deal" with the enemy; i.e., bending over backwards to accommodate him.

Another reason was tied up in the arguments advanced in behalf of the wheat sale. The gist of these arguments held that we would merely share our surplus with those who would otherwise go hungry. Seeing through this reasoning, there were many who remembered that it was just this sort of rationale that launched foreign aid 18 years ago.

One of the strangest reasons put forth in support of the wheat deal said that other countries which buy our wheat sell it to communist nations so why shouldn't we sell directly to the Soviets?

If it is stupid to help a Godless enemy who has no conception of what is moral; who has enslaved millions; who kills human dignity wherever possible; who feels that bloody revolutions and genocide are every-day means of accomplishing his own evil goals, then it does not become "smart" to help that enemy just because other nations do.

Another argument averred that the wheat deal would be a good way to advertise the private enterprise system. Once again the cold fact shows how false the argument is. The controlled press of the communist world gave a twisted account of the wheat deal; the Soviet Union was helping American wheat farmers.

The sad fact about these arguments is that they were so obviously false from the beginning. And where was the American citizen while all the votes on the wheat deal were being taken in the Legislative branch? This was one of the most important issues to come before the Congress in many years; it will likely have a bearing on the future of every living American for years to come.

Was the majority of American voters aware of the major votes taken on the issue? Did the majority of these voters express their desires to their Congressmen before each vote was taken? No, this majority did not--and the reason is simple: It did not take the time to understand. Ostensibly since the credit law passed, it would appear that the electorate had spoken its opinion. But did they? Would one voter in 100 know? On Dec. 16, the House sent the foreign aid bill back to committee with instructions to bar credit to communist countries? That on Dec. 21, the House instructed its conferees to "insist" on disagreement with a Senate amendment which gave the Executive branch discretionary authority to allow credit?

That on Dec. 24 (in a mad, but understandable, turmoil of pressure and the lure of having Christmas at home) the House gave the Executive branch that authority?

And most important, that the main point of contention of the whole matter rested on the very balance of power between the Executive and Legislative branches, on the Constitution itself?

No, it was all too complicated. The issue was whether the Congress should take a moral stand against helping the enemy, thus setting foreign policy in refusing to allow such aid. It had the power to do so, but it reversed the stand it had taken a mere eight days before.

The credit allowance to our sworn enemy is now the law of the land. We can criticize it all we like, but it is still the law.

Will the voter who did not take the time to understand live to regret this law? Time will tell. If the planners were wrong, and if this aid to the enemy was a historic misstep, we cannot blame our planners. We will know wherein lies the blame.

It has been computed that of every 100,000 persons examined for their intelligence, about 6,750 would be rated very superior, 13,000 better-than-average, 13,000 below average, and 750 morons.

The reason they call women the opposite sex is that every time you think you've got one of them fooled, it turns out to be exactly the opposite.

PERCUSSION EFFECT I'd know 'twas time for Halloween, If flame-gold woodlands I'd not seen; The oak that grows beside my wall, Has hold her acorns "time to fall!" And in the stillness of the night, They pitter-patter, fairy light.

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society was founded in 1946 to stimulate and support research into the cause, cure and prevention of MS. A recent report from the Society indicates that more than five million dollars has been spent by it for MS research, but the cause and cure remain unknown.

Adam Clayton Powell Succeeding in Drive For Probe Of National Unions on Racial Issue

Washington, D. C.: -- Behind closed doors many a labor leader curses out Harlem's Congressman Adam Clayton Powell. Out front they try never to aggravate him.

He drives a hard bargain. He is in a position to do so. His strength is as the strength of ten because he controls the Education and Labor Committee through which, he tells me, must pass some per cent of all the nation's new social laws.

The other day, virtually unnoticed by the country, he got his first payment on one such tough bargain privately made with the labor leaders. This payment was in the form of a bill -- passed by the House -- which could rip the lid off unions long closed, except for token membership, to Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Mexican-Americans and other minorities.

With labor support, the bill known as "Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1966," was passed overwhelmingly by a score of 298 to 94.

But the labor people were hardly ecstatic. The bill, if it passes the Senate and is signed, makes the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) a powerful, almost independent, investigative body, which can probe unions as well as businesses and employment agencies.

The Commission would have its own staff. Written in the most unequivocal language possible by Congressman Augustus Hawkins, representative of the California district which includes the Watts area, the bill makes each of the Commission's five members a powerful figure.

Under this proposed law, neither the commission nor the chairman, nor any member need await any complaints. Any one member, or the board itself, can start a probe.

If one or all of a group of the commissioners believe there are violations of the equal employment or equal membership laws, they could then prevail on the Commission itself to issue a cease and desist order. The Commission need not first go into court. The courts would be called on to enforce the EEOC's decisions, not make them in the first place.

Thus one member, concerned over reports of civil rights groups, could look into the records of a union, as well as of a business or employment agency.

Thus the Commission becomes a quasi-judicial agency and the labor people know that both Rev.

On the Set With 'The King and I'

By THE DAMAY CLEEK
Patsy Mitchell plays the role of "Lady Thiang," the head wife of the "King of Siam." She is much more elaborately dressed than the lesser wives. One of her costumes consists of a green and gold metallic blouse woven into a floral design with which she wears a yellow silk shirt. Another outstanding piece of apparel worn by Patsy is a turquoise and gold robe with a large gold shoulder sash. This is an authentic robe brought from Asia by Bebe Matthews and loaned for the play.

Other wives of the King, Shirley Davidson, Kay Hunter, Billie Sue McCann, Charlene Freeman, Greer Huff, Carole Sue Clayton, Mary Cooney, Martha Bess, Rose Napier and Judy Matthews will be adorned in various colored blouses trimmed with braid, sequins, beading and jewels. With these brilliant hued blouses they will wear matching skirts. All of the blouses have been made by Margaret Seabough, who has helped with the set and will also be working with the make-up crew. "Prince Chui" played by Alex Waters III is more elegantly dressed than the rest of the King's children. He has jackets and tunics of bright colors trimmed with braid and jewels which he wears over red, gold and black penangs.

Other children, Princess Ying, played by Susie Mitchell, Royal Princesses, played by Melody Powell, Michelle Powell, Maureen Klein, Susie Grogan, Jane Campbell, Paula Doyle, Brenda Stewart and Connie Campagna, Royal Princesses, played by Mike Carden, Steven Waters, David McCann and the smallest in the cast (in size only), Billy Klein, will be attired in costumes of brilliant colored penangs for the boys and penangs for the girls. With these bloused pants they will wear solid color tops and atop each and every head will be a gold chignon. All the chignons for the children and also for the dancers, have been made by Suzanne Ashley.

The mothers of the Royal Children have been very helpful to the costume crew. They have made the costumes for their own children thus relieving the committee, composed of Joyce Miller, costume designer, Donna Koch, Wanda Seabough, Margaret Seabough and Nora McMullin, wardrobe chairman, to work on costumes of other members of the cast.

Some of the costumes to be worn by the Royal Dancers were rented and some were bought but this does not tell the whole story. The costume for Buddha, for instance, got a complete "overhaul" job on the spot by Richard Fussell. He didn't like the "soda straw" effect of the head dress so decided to make a complete head cover that will be authentic Buddha type. The costumes for the ballet are predominately rose and orange and they too were revamped to give a prettier effect. Epaulettes are being added to the shoulders and different head dress is being used.

"The Amazons, played by Jan Sargent, Laurie Hillsman, Doris Ray and Patty Lewis all wear epaulettes over black knit blouses. With this they wear striped skirts with black and red predominating.

There are many more costumes, for slaves, priests, nurses, etc., but I have not seen them all nor have I seen all the many helpful persons working for this committee. I still must tell you about the music for after all, it is a musical. That, I will do next.

Last Concert Of Season Given

By RUTH DILLENDER
The Tipton Trio presented the last concert of the Delta Community Concert Association season Saturday night at 8 p.m. in the junior high school auditorium. Between 75 and 100 persons attended.

Somewhat of a rarity today, the trio is composed of flute, cello and piano. Albert Tipton is director and flutist, Mario Di Fiore plays cello and Mary Norris is pianist.

Selections were "Trio Sonata for Flute, Cello and Piano" by Jean-Marie Leclair, "Sonata in G minor for Flute and Piano" by Michel Blavet, "Trio for Flute, Cello and Piano" by Bohuslav Martinu, "Pour le Piano" by Claude Debussy and "Suite Populaire Espagnole for Cello and Piano" by Manuel de Falla. The title of their sixth number was unannounced.

The trio played two encore numbers, one of which was a composition by Felix Mendelssohn.

Albert Tipton has performed as flute soloist with such orchestras as the Detroit, St. Louis, Washington and Philadelphia. He has also made impressive conducting appearances. He has toured the country directing his own chamber orchestra. He is a graduate of Philadelphia's Curtis Institute of Music. His platinum flute is one of eight in the world.

Mary Norris, pianist, won acclaim from conductor Pierre Monteux at her debut as soloist with the Philadelphia Orchestra and since then she has toured as soloist here and abroad. She appeared with the St. Louis Symphony in its television debut. In private life, she is married to Tipton whom she met while both were students at the Curtis Institute.

Cellist Mario Di Fiore has been associated with Tipton as a featured soloist with the Tipton Chamber Orchestra on its tours of this country and Canada. American-born and trained, Di Fiore is, when not touring with the Trio, a member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and is a noted recitalist.

The music played by the trio Saturday night was enjoyable and well received by the audience. Each instrument was given an opportunity to demonstrate its qualities through the selections chosen although Miss Norris was the only artist who actually presented a solo.

The warm and low, mellow tones of the cello were beautifully accented in the Spanish "Suite Populaire Espagnole for Cello and Piano."

Patty Lewis assisted the pianist with her music.

DEAR POLLY--Will someone please tell me how to get the matting out of a dense pile nylon rug? --MRS. J. J.

Polly

DEAR POLLY--My Pointer has certainly saved us a lot of headaches. When writing personal checks we fill in the stub portion first and then write the check. When writing the check first, particularly when distracted or in a hurry, it is very easy to forget to fill in the stub. Then later comes that all-time question: "What was that check for and for how much?" --JANE

DEAR GIRLS and our GENTLEMEN FRIENDS, too--I really liked this as I have often written the check to pay a bill, put it in an envelope and sealed it and then became so occupied with addressing the envelope that the stub was forgotten. --POLLY

DEAR POLLY--We always keep a putty knife near the freezer and find it handy to use when removing frozen foods from the freezer. --GEORGE

DEAR POLLY--My parents have a clothes chute from their upstairs hall down to the basement laundry. Mom tried so many different bins to catch the laundry at the foot of the chute but they were not large enough for the whole week's wash and turned over if heavy items caught on the sides. She solved this problem by purchasing a large old chest of drawers at a used furniture sale. She knocked the bottoms out of all the drawers except one. They were stacked and nailed together. After a little sanding and painting she had a large heavy bin which holds everything and does not tip over even when sheets fall into it. --MRS. L. W. I.

DEAR POLLY--Our medicine cabinet mirror door would not slide easily so I took a baby's cotton-tipped stick and put a bit of petroleum jelly on it, rubbed it in the grooves and now they slide smoothly. This does not make a mess and does not have to be repeated very often. It is such a relief to be saved that jerking and noise. --MARJORIE

DEAR POLLY--While scrubbing my carpet I thought of a grand use for your famous nylon net. This is fabulous. The nylon net does not hold water so it can be dipped in the water, it catches the suds you want and the carpet does not get soaked. --EVELYN

Cards Hold Off Mays Home Run Power, In Series

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a week week for Willie. While everyone waited for him to hit his 512th home run, Willie Mays was having trouble hitting anything.

Mays added to his recent problem Sunday by suffering a bruised left knee in San Francisco's 2-0 victory over St. Louis.

The injury, suffered in a first base collision with the Cardinals' George Kernek, forced Mays from the game in the fourth inning, marking the third time in the past week that he left a game before it was over.

A cold and an upset stomach sent Mays home early last Tuesday and Wednesday and kept him out of the line-up altogether Thursday. Contributing to his ills was a bruised right hand which hampered his swing and caused him to throw his bat a couple of times.

The result has been a drastic reduction in his hitting output. When he hit his 511th homer and tied Mel Ott's National League career record last Sunday, it gave Mays six homers in the Giants' first 12 games.

But six games later Mays not only failed to break the record, he also has seen his batting average drop 62 points from .348 to .286.

McDowell Pitches Second Straight One Hit Game

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

They're calling him Sudden Sam McDowell, but Sensational Sam would seem to be more appropriate for a pitcher who has collected as many hits in one game as he's given up in two.

McDowell, Cleveland's ace left-hander, collected two hits Sunday and his second straight one-hitter, allowing only a bloop double by Don Buford in the second inning as he pitched the Indians to a 1-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

The feat of hurling successive one-hitters had been accomplished only three previous times in major league history, by Lon Warneke when he was with the Chicago Cubs, Mort Cooper when he was with the St. Louis Cardinals and Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees.

McDowell also lived up to his sudden label, applied because of his blazing speed, by striking out 10 and bringing his major league-leading total to 49. The undefeated southpaw also became the first American League pitcher to win four games and low-

Little League Meeting Tonight

MOREHOUSE -- A meeting will be held at 7 p.m. tonight in the City Hall to elect little league officials and adopt a plan of organization.

Adults or parents interested in joining the league are asked to attend this meeting.

Ushering at a base theater, a young private was having a great deal of trouble satisfying a lieutenant. There were few seats left and none pleased the officer. "I want something in the center aisle," he kept insisting.

In exasperation the private said, "Right this way, sir." The theater was pitch dark and there was much confusion, many "excuse me's" and "sorry's."

Finally the lieutenant came back out into the aisle. "Soldier," he growled, "there are no seats in the center row!" "Yes, sir," said the private. "That's what I've been trying to tell you."

At the hospital nurses heard cries of "Help! Help!" coming from the room of a 96-year-old woman who had broken her hip. They rushed in to find that she was thirsty.

"Why don't you push the buzzer?" a nurse asked. "I've done that," she said, "and nothing happens. But when I yell, 'Help! Help!' everybody comes at once."

Major College Track Round-Up

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Villanova appears to have a new track dynasty in the making. Texas A&M has a well-known behemoth reviving and Jim Grelle has to do some thinking.

Those were the major developments in a busy weekend of track and field activity, centered in three widespread meets.

In the Penn Relays at Philadelphia, Villanova's 19-year-old Dave Patrick was named the outstanding performer after leading his sophomore teammates through the rain and cold for a couple of surprising victories in the feature relays.

In the Drake Relays at Des Moines, Iowa, Texas A & M's Randy Matson repeated a double, winning both the shot--with one of his best efforts of the year--and the discus.

In the Mount San Antonio Relays at Walnut, Calif., the veteran miler Grelle turned to the 5,000 meters, won with his usual blistering kick and must be wondering if he's been running the wrong race all these years.

"Patrick could be a great miler," Villanova coach Jumbo Jim Elliott said after the shy youngster led the Wildcats to their surprise.

Patrick staged a come-from-behind finish Saturday with a 1:53 flat half mile on Villanova's 7:39.3 two-mile relay. Again, the weather conditions were intolerable.

The two victories stamped the Wildcats as a major power again, since all four members of the two-mile team were sophomores, three of them doubling on the other Villanova winner.

At Des Moines, Matson took the discus in a mediocre 185-4 and the shot in a solid 65-33/4, one of his best of the year and a meet record.

Matson, the young giant who holds the world record at 70-7, has voiced his concern over his performance and condition several times this season, but gained confidence with his second straight double.

The outstanding athlete award, however, went to Van Nelson, an unheralded distance man from St. Cloud, Minn., State, who outlegged seasoned competition for a meet record in the three-mile Friday and another victory in the six-mile Saturday. The times were 13:29.2 and 28:48.6.

Jim Ryan, Kansas' teen-age mile sensation, was a mild disappointment, taking his event in 4:05.6.

Grelle turned on his familiar, devastating kick to beat seasoned George Young in 14:10.8 in the 5,000 meters, an unfamiliar distance for Grelle, who has run more sub-four miles than any other American.

In other highlights of the California meet, John Pennel and Sam Kirk each cleared 17 feet in the pole vault, Pennel winning on fewer misses, and St. John's Tommy Farrell ran a sparkling 1:47.9 half mile.

Garner Assigned To Daytona Team

Tim Garner of Sikeston has just finished spring training with the Detroit Tigers Baseball Team at Tigertown, outside of Lakeland, Florida. Tigertown has living and playing accommodations for more than 200 officials, managers, coaches, trainers and players. Four playing fields enable eight full squads to engage in fundamental and competitive activity simultaneously under observation from a central tower. Extra facilities for player development include the only fieldhouse in a baseball camp, a line of pitching mounds, a special practice infield, and a "trap wall" for specialized training of infielders, along with batting cages. Spring training lasted from March 1 to April 18.

Tim was assigned to play Class A ball with the Daytona Islanders at Daytona Beach, Florida as their first-string catcher. Tim played baseball at Murray State University and Arkansas State College. He went to Bryan, Texas two summers with the Sikeston Connie Mack Team and was named the Outstanding Catcher of the Regional Tournament in 1963. Garner was on the Sikeston Babe Ruth League Team that went to the World Series in Stockton, California in 1959.

While in high school, Tim was outstanding in baseball as well as football and basketball, gaining for himself a place on the First Team All-Conference Baseball Team, the First Team All-Conference Basketball team and was given honorable mention to the All-American football team. He was selected by his teammates as co-captain in all three sports and was awarded the Frank Miller honorary sports award.

National League To Hold Meeting

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK AP -- The Milwaukee-Atlanta situation will be discussed at a special meeting of the National League late Monday afternoon, a day before the two major leagues hold a joint session.

Although Wisconsin Circuit Court Judge Elmer Roller ordered the Braves to return to Atlanta May 18 if the league had not made expansion plans for 1967, including Milwaukee, by May 16, there was no indication of any immediate expansion.

"Expansion will be discussed," said league president Warren Giles before leaving his Cincinnati home. "I do not anticipate any action will be taken at this meeting."

"We will hear the report of our counsel on the Wisconsin case. It may be necessary to have another meeting before May 16."

Giles said the league would consider the report of the players' association and other matters, such as a proposed trip to Japan by the Los Angeles Dodgers, which will come up for discussion at the joint meeting Tuesday morning, called by Commissioner William Eckert.

It had been reported that the state of Georgia is considering filing suit directly to the U. S. Supreme Court against the state of Wisconsin to expedite a final decision on the Braves.

The Wisconsin court ruled April 13 that the Braves and the National League had violated Wisconsin's antitrust laws and their refusal to issue a franchise to Milwaukee County was restraint of trade and commerce.

However, a Georgia court has issued a permanent injunction

A MODERN ELECTRONIC ENGINE PERFORMANCE ANALYSIS IS LIKE A DOCTOR'S X-RAY

When you go to your Doctor for a checkup, he usually insists on an X-ray, to determine the exact condition of the vital organs that control body processes.

An electronic diagnosis of your engine and its electrical system is like an X-ray in that it determines the exact condition of each part and component that controls car performance.

Many vital engine parts are out of sight. It is impossible, for example, to see the action of the distributor points under actual working conditions. However, with our modern Rotunda Electronic Diagnosis Equipment, the exact condition of all such hidden parts is clearly indicated on the oscilloscope screen. Nothing is left to guesswork--nothing is overlooked.

Let our trained diagnosis technicians give you a complete report on every phase of your engine's performance. It will pay big dividends in helping you to avoid future trouble.

Come in for a COMPLETE ENGINE PERFORMANCE ANALYSIS

If you're not getting top performance from your car's engine, now is the time to let our expert diagnosis technicians give you a report on the exact condition of your engine and its electrical system.

URGE SUPPORT OF VIETNAM EFFORT THROUGH BONDS. Helping mark the Silver Anniversary of the U.S. Savings Bonds program this month, Lyle N. Pearson (right), President of Torginol of America, pledged the support of the entire seamless flooring industry in the national effort to underwrite the nation's efforts in Vietnam through the increased purchase of bonds. Shown with Pearson are Marie Esquivel, "Miss Liberty," and Capt. James C. Maloney who will fly a blimp over parts of the country with the aerial admonition shown above.

Lions Will Sell Bulbs

CARUTHERSVILLE -- The Lions club will conduct an all-out drive on the night of May 5 to sell electric light bulbs to residents of Caruthersville, according to club president Earl Bullington. Proceeds from this project, like many Lions Club projects, go to sight conservation. The light bulbs will be sold in handy project-packs, each containing eight light bulbs. In each project-pak you get two 100-watt bulbs, two 75-watt bulbs and four 60-watt bulbs. This package of eight bulbs is $2.00. The entire membership of the Lions Club has been organized to supply friends and neighbors with light bulbs delivered right to their door. The door-to-door sale will begin at 7 p.m.

New Speak, 1966

EDDY GILMORE, whose eye for the odd and ear for nuance have made his entertaining and instructive reporting during 25 years in AP Foreign Service, came home for another refresher trip recently. During his trip he spoke in 45 cities on a lecture tour and returned to his London base with a new slant on U. S. language and mores. Disappearance of the double-breasted suit and of two-story houses are obvious, he reports. His comments on the language: Six years ago I discovered that the word OPERATION had become unfashionable. SURGERY was the vogue word. Those who had an OPERATION in 1960 had SURGERY. Four years ago the new word was DEAL. Houses, families, automobiles, love affairs, situations became DEALS -- overworked to the point of tedium. Two years ago the appendage WISE was in full verbal flight. It was money WISE, health WISE, I even heard wife WISE. In 1966 the new word was ESCALATE. Vanished were expanded, enlarge, extend, increase, spread out. Everything ESCALATED. In the East, particularly around Washington, a fashionable word was THRUST. "Then the THRUST of your argument is so and so," a senatorial acquaintance said. "THRUST of my argument?" I asked. "Yes," he replied, waving his arms. "You know THRUST." I told the senator I did not understand. I still don't. Other Gilmore findings: preference for what Americans call light whisky, insisting on talking about the DRY Martini; talking of PARIS FRANCE, ROME ITALY and BERLIN GERMANY "as if they are places with a double-barrelled name, like New Haven"; and panty girdles are not a cross between a girdle and panties "but a long, leggy evolution of grandma's old-fashioned drawers." Eddy also notes that U. S. short skirts are not as short as those in Britain. A. P. Log

Jimmie Webb VFW Leader

PARMA -- The Veterans of Foreign Wars post held a special meeting to elect officers. Elected were Jimmie Webb, commander, Carl S. Shaw, senior vice commander and advocate; James D. Teel, junior vice commander and trustee for two years; James L. Allen, quarter-master; John F. McDonald, adjutant; Vernon Johnson, chaplain and trustee for one year; Jess C. Blackman, officer of the day; Carl Sapp, service officer; Pascal Gardner, trustee for three years and surgeon; James L. Allen, public officer.

I was duly impressed when an old whang-hide cowpoke showed dexterity at rolling his own cigarettes. "Rollin' them don't take much skill," he explained shyly. "The main trick is getting the filter in." Oren Arnold

City Directory Distributed

CARUTHERSVILLE -- The 1966 Caruthersville and Hayti City Directory, published by the R. L. Polk and Co., is now being distributed to local business houses. The new directory contains an alphabetical list of names and addresses of residents, business houses and institutions; a householders' directory including a street and avenue guide; a classified business directory; a yellow section or buyers' guide, and a statistical and historical story of the city.

Three Seek

New Seat in House

CARUTHERSVILLE -- Three Pemiscot County men are seeking election to the new seat in the Missouri House of Representatives that is shared with Dunklin County, while only one Dunklin resident filed for the post before Tuesday's 5 p.m. deadline. The Pemiscot candidates are Vic Downing of Bragg City, Leonard Kindred of Deering and Paul (Duke) Still of Steele. Attorney Charles Cable of Senath is the only Dunklin County man seeking the new seat that was created by the recent redistricting of the state. Charles (Cat) Foley, who represents the eastern part of Pemiscot County, has the distinction of being the only candidate for the House in the east part of Missouri south of St. Louis to be unopposed in the August Primary. Late filings last week gave the incumbents in both New Madrid and Dunklin counties opponents in the coming election. Downing, who is a prominent farmer and civic leader, filed for the post several weeks ago as soon as the new district was announced. Kindred, who is the owner and operator of Deering Gas and Appliance, filed in Jefferson City last Tuesday. He is an active leader in school and civic affairs in the Deering area. Still filed for the office by mail. He is an auto dealer in Steele and has played an active role in Democratic politics on the county and state level. While heavy filings were expected for the new seat it was expected that there would be more from Dunklin County. Local observers feared that this will split the Pemiscot vote, thus giving Cable an edge in the balloting.

Pen Point. An irate customer in correspondence with a Canadian department store about billing errors enclosed this explanatory note: "You will notice that I am enclosing two identical letters about my account, one marked 'left hand' and the other marked 'right hand.' The reason for this is that it is obvious these days that at your store the left hand does not know what the right hand is doing." G. A. Gerrard

Memorial for John England

CARUTHERSVILLE -- Back in the early 1940's John England, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh England, was graduated from the Caruthersville high school. The world was at war at the time, but the commencement speaker managed to come up with the usual platitudes about the world still being for the young, that what they did with it was up to them. John England didn't live to a ripe old age, but in a short 32 years proved that the world is for the young and brave. And the new jet memorial, mounted in City Park last week, is evidence that young John England took the world as he found it and made it his oyster. Lt. Col. England was born and grew up in Caruthersville. After graduation, he went to work for Ralph Hutchison, and then entered cadet training in 1942 and received his commission the next year. Lt. Col. England went on to become Missouri's No. 1 fighter pilot ace of World War II. As one of the youngest Wing Commanders in the Eighth Air Command in England, he received credit for downing 19 enemy planes.

At the end of World War II, he remained in the Air Force. He was named commanding officer of the 389th Fighter Bomber Squadron at Alexandria (La.) Air Force Base in 1954. It was from this base that he and his group flew to Toul, France, and on Nov. 17 of that year, while returning from a routine mission his plane cracked up as he came in for a landing. Lt. Col. England died in the wreck. On May 1, 1955, the Alexandria Air Force Base was renamed England Air Force Base after the young man who was graduated from the Caruthersville High School, not so many years previously, and who proved that the world still

was for the young and brave. Lt. Col. England was buried at Arlington National Cemetery in Washington. He was survived by his wife and three children. One of our great 19th Century actors was reputed to have marked his trail of affairs d'amour with progeny. Not infrequently some claimant to his paternity would appear. Once, such a young man gained entrance to the actor's dressing room and introduced himself by saying, "I'm your son." The actor peered intently at the youth for a moment. "So you are," he said and, turning to his valet, added, "Give the boy a pass." Mrs. W. E. Collins C. Kennedy

CHANCELLOR JOHN W. SCHWADA of the University of Missouri of Columbia inspects the branch library installed at Hatch Hall under sponsorship of the Men's Residence Hall association. With him are, left, Steve Huber, St. Louis, and Bob Haas of Chillicothe, president and vice president, respectively, of the association. Similar libraries are under consideration in other residence halls on the campus as a convenience to students.

Library opens in Residence Hall

COLUMBIA -- Not too many years ago the Library at the University of Missouri was a convenient place for students to meet their friends.

Now the building, which houses one of the few college libraries with more than a million volumes, is such a busy place it isn't conducive to social life. Much of the time it is jam-packed for serious study and research.

Latest development on the Missouri campus is a pilot study for useful libraries in residence halls. It was initiated by the Men's Residence Hall Association and has resulted in a 250-volume library for Hatch Hall.

Steve Huber of 7433 Merillac, St. Louis, and Bob Haas of Chillicothe, president and vice president of the Men's Residence Hall Association, respectively, initiated the move to provide the dormitory libraries in response to demand of residents. If successful, and there are growing indications that it is, the program will be expanded to other dormitory complexes on the campus.

The Association sent Huber to Chancellor John W. Schwada to determine if the plan was feasible.

"When I learned that the Association thought so much of the idea it was willing to help finance it, I was convinced of their interest," Chancellor Schwada said. "If students need them, want them, use them, and if they serve a useful purpose, we will put libraries in all the dormitories."

The Hatch dormitory has about $500 worth of books purchased by the Association or contributed by students. Then the shelves were stocked with books from the University General Library, selected after a review of major study interests of some 1,100 students in the complex. A dozen or so magazines were added.

The books can be checked out on a two-hour basis, or over-

THE SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES A Review of the 1964 Term

VI. CRIMINAL LAW: FAIR TRIAL

The problems of isolating a jury in a small Southern county with the almost-Faulknerian name of Tangipahoa Parish, Louisiana, were presented vividly in the 1964 term to the Supreme Court. In a context which suggests it would be ripe for a television serial, the Court held in Turner v. Louisiana that a defendant in a murder trial had been denied a fair trial by an impartial jury when two deputy sheriffs who were key witnesses for the prosecution had charge of the jury during the three-day trial and fraternized extensively with them outside of the courtroom during the trial. Mr. Justice Clark dissented on the ground that although this was an undesirable practice, absent a showing of prejudice, it was not unconstitutional. No doubt, the deputies were simply politicking. A reversal seems to be an overuse of corrective medicine in such a case, although the integrity of the jury process is an important value to be protected. Perhaps an admonition to the State trial courts that repetition will be considered with a jaundiced eye would serve the purpose just as well.

If Turner was appropriate for television but never made it, then Estes v. Texas, which made television, was held to be inappropriate for it by the Court. In this case, the Court reversed one of the several convictions of Billie Sol Estes because parts of his trial were televised and broadcast. It is said that a single picture is worth a thousand words, but this case had lots of both, with six separate opinions and seven photographs overflowing from the reports. Mr. Justice Clark, who wrote the opinion for the court, relied heavily on Canon 35 of the Canons of Ethics of the American Bar Association, the Federal Rules, and the rules of 48 out of 50 States, which bar such broadcasting, yet he conceded that these were not standards of constitutional dimension. He elaborated at length the psychological tension on all concerned because of television, but failed to explain why this tension was not present when the courtroom was packed with reporters and spectators, as happens in any highly publicized trial, or why, if television increases the "distraction," it does so more than other forms of publicity. In short, his opinion substituted speculation for a showing of specific prejudice in this case.

Chief Justice Warren, with Justices Douglas and Goldberg, took thousands of words in a separate concurring opinion, to say the same thing. They also enlarged on the theatrical influences which the televising of a cause celebre might have, but likewise failed to specify why newspaper publicity might not have the same effect. According to them, the televising would make the trial into a show, rather than an objective search for truth. In a separate concurring opinion, Mr. Justice Harlan said the same thing, but limited his strictures to "notorious" trials.

Four Justices, Stewart, Black, Brennan and White, dissented, holding that there was no prejudice to Estes shown in this case, and that televising trials is not to be held unconstitutional per se. Because Mr. Justice Harlan, who cast the deciding vote, limited his opinion to the facts of the particular case, the only rule that emerges from the welter of verbiage is that televising Billie Sol Estes is unconstitutional. Considering Estes' other legal difficulties, even his benefit from this decision is more theoretical than real. The result of this mass of material is an interesting collection of illustrated essays which have yet to settle anything.

Two Hearings Are Waived

KENNETT -- Five felony cases were among the proceedings of Dunklin county magistrate court held with Judge Leon McAnally presiding and Charles H. Baker, prosecuting attorney.

Preliminary hearings were waived in two felony cases -- Rudy Edna Skelton, 40, of Senath, charged with leaving the scene of an accident, and Burton Moore of Kennett, charged with cashing a no-account check. Both cases were bound over to Circuit Court. Moore's bond, set at $1,000, was posted.

The case of Danny K. Tittle, 21, of Malden, charged with cashing a no funds check, was dismissed at his costs because of his previous good record and the fact that restitution of funds had been made.

Two preliminary hearings, on felony cases were continued to May 5 -- Gary Belt, 17, of Parma, and Jerry Edwards, 17, of Clarkton, both charged with burglary and larceny.

In misdemeanor cases, other than traffic violations, Donald Joe Holland pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace and received a six-month jail sentence from which he was paroled upon condition of good behavior and payment of $10 costs. Three charges of violating the wildlife code were continued to May 5 -- Alford Licastro, Shirley Dawson and Thomas Dawson.

Hearnes Joins Society

COLUMBIA, Mo. AP -- Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, a University of Missouri law graduate in 1952, was made an honorary initiate of the order of the Colf, legal scholastic society, in law day ceremonies at the University of Missouri today.

Distinguished alumni awards were presented to Paul G. Kooz of Kansas City, a Missouri law graduate in 1918, and to James M. Douglas of St. Louis, a former judge of the Missouri Supreme Court and a graduate of Washington University in St. Louis. The alumni association's citation of merit went to Irvin Fane of Kansas City, a law graduate in 1928.

A man went with his wife to the mountains for a vacation. One day he returned from a hike all scratched and bruised. He told her he had met a snake on the trail.

"But don't you remember, the guide told us that the snakes up here aren't poisonous," she pointed out.

"They don't have to be when they make you jump off a 50-foot cliff," he replied.

Actor Looks Like Father

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) -- The young man's name is John Garfield Jr., and you recognize his parentage immediately.

You see the same deep-burning eyes, the easily-rumpled brow, the square cheekbones. You also catch glimpses of the same intensive energy. The only jarring note is his height -- a towering 6-foot-2 vs. his father's 5-9.

Young Garfield has come to Hollywood at age 22 -- his father was 30 before he made the journey. John Sr. was already a Broadway star when he made his film debut in "Four Daughters" in 1938.

His son has a year of stage repertory behind him and is starting with a two-page bit in "The Warning Shot," starring David Janssen. Oddly, Garfield is replacing Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale, who has gone on to other things.

Like all second generation performers, Garfield is aware of the assets and liabilities of bearing a famous name.

"It used to be a hang-up with me, but I've learned to live with it," he remarked. "Listen, it can be a real advantage in getting to see people who can help you. But of course that's all it does for you; then you're on your own."

Young John was born here during his father's tenure as a Warner Bros. star -- "so in a sense I'm coming home." He moved to New York when he was 6, and his father died when the boy was 8. So his memories of his father are dim, but his image has been refreshed, thanks to television.

He defined what he had to say: That everyone should be accepted for what he is; that people should love one another. Returning to New York, Garfield found work with the New York Shakespeare Festival, which brings the Bard to the people, wherever they may be.

He then joined the National Repertory Theater for a tour of the United States. That's when he decided on his name.

"So I decided to be John Garfield Jr. Why not? There are 8 million actors for every job. Why shouldn't I use a name that would at least get me through the door?"

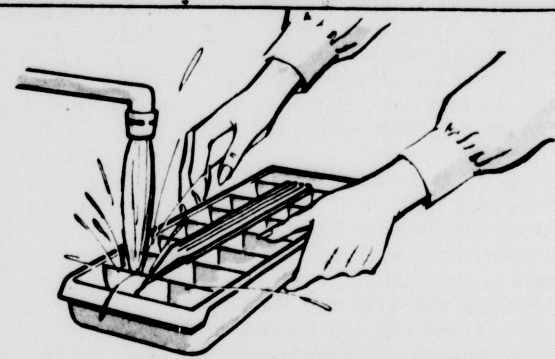

Over a beautiful display of fruit in a big - city supermarket: "The management reserves the right to pinch back."

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: You were wrong, wrong, wrong when you said people should have ash trays around for guests who smoke even if they don't smoke themselves. Why? To encourage the filthy habit? Ash trays are an invitation to smoke. When there are no ash trays a guest should take the hint.

We have no ash trays in our home because we don't want people to smoke. If a guest asks if he may light up we tell him (as politely as we can) to take his cigarettes outside. He can like it or lump it.

I happen to know you are a non-smoker, Ann, and that you have repeatedly spoken out against tobacco. In a recent column you told a teen-ager, "Smoking is a dirty, offensive, expensive, ugly habit and we now have indisputable evidence that it is damaging to health. Don't start."

Why did you suddenly abandon this stand? Please explain. -- DEEPLY DISAPPOINTED

Dear Deeely: You are right, I was wrong. I plead temporary insanity and recommend that my punishment be 10 lashes with a wet tobacco leaf. When there are no ash trays in sight a guest should indeed take a hint.

You are correct when you say

I am a militant anti-cigarette girl. I blast the weed whenever I can--in fact I've been accused of being a bit of a nut on the subject. I know someone who is even nuttier than I am and I'm going to print part of his column which appeared in the Minneapolis Tribune. The writer is Will Jones and this is what he had to say:

"An open letter from a Non-Smoker to All Smokers: Having trouble kicking the habit? Well, I'm sick of the whining and hawing and yapping about the surgeon general's report. I'm bored with all the jokes about the trouble you're having trying to give up cigarettes.

"For 40 years I've lived in a world dominated by smokers. I've complained very little. I've accepted the fact that this is a smoker's world. But I'm through being quiet about it.

"Do you know how you smokers look to those of us who don't smoke? You are ill-bred, ill-mannered, inconsiderate slob. You may think you look glamorous like the smokers in the ads and the movies, but you don't. You have a nasty habit and you look ridiculous. Furthermore you stink. Your clothes stink, your breath stinks and you stink up the world around you.

"I play a little game with women who expect me to light their cigarettes. I out-wait them. Some give up and light their own. Others ask for a light. Last night one babe said, 'Well, aren't you going to light my cigarette?' I replied, 'No. I'd rather you didn't smoke.' She lit up anyway and that got me mad. I grabbed the cigarette out of her mouth, snuffed it out and tore it to shreds.

"Do you think I am rude?" I asked. 'Yes,' she answered, 'I am not half as rude as you,' I told her.

"I've had it up to here with sore, red eyes caused by other people's smoke. I've had it up to here with burned rugs and floors and furniture because of slob who not only are slaves to a habit but are so fumble-fingered they can't even handle it. And unless you smoke in absolute fireproof privacy, with other smokers, you are intolerable. You are the enemy."

No teen-ager is as confident as he appears. Get clued in. Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

While others were busy at various activities of debatable importance, my mother began washing walls. "Well," she told the assemblage at suppertime, "I've got four walls done and a little start on the ceiling." We craned our necks to admire dutifully, and there on the gray ceiling, spelled out in spick-and-span white, was the message "HEL P!"

Two Admit Burglary

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Two of the three men suspected and held in the burglary of a coin collection from the Cooper Vending Co., have admitted burglarizing the Senath-Homersville Junior High School in Hornersville on April 20.

Approximately $250 in currency, two watches and a ring were taken from a concrete vault which was entered by knocking a hole in the wall.

The two, who have admitted the Dunklin County burglary, are David D. McFarlin, 32, and Maurice D. O'Bryen, 25, both of Senath. The third suspect involved in the Cape Girardeau coin collection theft investigation is Wilbur G. McFarlin, 45, of Bangor, Mich.

The pair who admitted the school burglary said that Wilbur

McFarlin was along at the time but was in the car and did not enter the building.

All three suspects are scheduled to go before Magistrate Judge Roland G. Busch of Cape Girardeau County for the burglary of the coin collection, valued at $9,000.

Hoyt Butler Leads Lions

PARMA -- Hoyt Butler was elected president of the Lions club at the April meeting.

Other officers are first vice president, Randal Ramsey; second vice president, Tom F. Womack, third vice president, Lance Morgan; secretary-treasurer, Lynn Leight; Lion tamer, Encl Knight; tall twister, Doug Stinson and members of the board of directors, W. L. Ramsey and Ted Morgan. Officers will be installed at the May meeting.

Levee Party Broken Up

CARUTHERSVILLE -- State troopers broke up a teen-age drinking party April 22 in which they estimated 30 to 40 young people were involved.

Trooper Roy Jones and Trooper John Greer answered a call to a place on the river side of the levee west of the video tower.

Trooper Jones said that as the patrol car crossed the levee most of the group fled on foot and in cars across the fields but they managed to "catch" three boys and were told that others were hiding in bushes.

Mr. Jones told the Democrat-Argus that no arrests were made, since at the time he and Mr. Greer did not know whether they were empowered to make arrests on private property under the circumstances. The land is owned by St. Francis Levee District.

Since then he said they have learned that they can make such arrests and expect to arrest and prosecute anyone they catch involved in wild parties in the future.

Local officers said the youths have laid out an "obstacle course" in the area where they race their motorcycles and Hondas, and apparently they have had other "wild parties" there in recent months.

Trooper Jones said they found at least 15 cases of beer and a quantity of whiskey, also that there was an older woman there selling the liquor. Again, no charges were filed.

Today In U.S. History

Today is Monday, May 2, the 122nd day of 1966. There are 243 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1670, the Hudson's Bay Company was chartered with a territory nearly as large as all of Europe. On this date In 1863, Gen. Stonewall Jackson—one of the most brilliant leaders of the Confederate armies—was mistaken for a Union scout and shot by his own men during the Battle of Chancellorsville, Va. He died 10 days later. In 1890, Oklahoma was organized as a territory. In 1912, the House of Representatives voted for the establishment of an experimental parcel post system. In 1923, Lts. Oakley Kelly and John Macready took off from Roosevelt Field, Long Island, on the first nonstop transcontinental plane flight. In 1945, Moscow announced the fall of Berlin. Ten years ago—The Communist part of the United States announced a new shift of the party line to conform with the "new look" espoused by the Kremlin. Five years ago—The Canadian government announced it had negotiated an agreement to sell six million tons of wheat, barley and flour to Communist China. One year ago — President Johnson went on television to charge that Communist plotters had taken over the uprising in the Dominican Republic.

Army Toughens Up on Dodgers

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON AP -- The Army is getting tougher with Reserves and National Guardsmen who dodge drills with their units, it was learned today.

Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, recently ordered demotion of any Reserve or National Guardsman ducking too many drills. The demotion would be for inefficiency.

Another part of Johnson's order provides that certain draft-age guardsmen and reservists who fail to keep up their obligated drills may be referred to Selective Service for two years of active duty.

The order specified that three unexcused absences in any year "are considered excessive."

The new penalties are in addition to an existing requirement that any guardsman or reservist failing a drilling obligation may be called to active duty for 45 days of training.

Most National Guardsmen and Reserves in the ready reserve are required to drill with their units 48 times a year. Men serving in the highest-priority units must attend 72 drills a year.

The demotion in rank, according to Johnson's order, will be imposed before a man begins his 45-day active duty training penalty.

There is special emphasis on National Guard and Reserve training currently because of the Viet Nam situation and, particularly in the case of highest-priority units, because of a drive to get a 150,000-man "select force" in top readiness by July 1.

The men who would be vulnerable for "priority induction" are Reserves or National Guardsmen below 26 years of age who have signed up for four to 10 months of basic training in a regular Army center, but who have not yet been able to undergo this training.

Because of overcrowded Army training centers, there currently is a backlog of more than 120,000 men obligated to serve with their Reserve or National Guard units for as much as 5 1/2 years after their brief basic training.

While awaiting openings at Army training centers, these men now are required to drill with their Reserve and National Guard units. Meanwhile, they remain draft-free.

INSPECTING proper campsites were Scouts from troop 43 and 48 of Sikeston. Two patrols, composed of the Raccoon and Crow, found 15 camp discrepancies, from bad campfires to poor tent and sleeping arrangements. From left are, Fred Copeland, Cliff Morris Jr., Jim Henzi, Billy Markham, Billy Grant, Bill Deane, Randy Raymonds, patrol leader, Greg Duckett, David Jacobson and Donnie Lott, patrol leader.

Extortion Case on Court Docket

RALPH E. OTTO was elected controller and assistant secretary of Fabrick Tractor Company at the stockholders meeting in St. Louis.

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- The spring term of United States District Court opened in Cape Girardeau this morning with a docket of six criminal and 21 civil cases.

Judge Roy W. Harper presided at the session held in the U.S. District Courtroom in the Federal Building at Fountain and Broadway.

Cases are set through May 19. In one case two Sikeston men, Wm. R. McIntosh and Joe Dale Wilson, who are charged with extortion. A third man indicted by a federal grand jury last May, Walter Richardson Jr. of Portageville, has since died. McIntosh and Wilson are accused of demanding $5,000 from Wm. Tanner of Memphis, Tenn., April 23, 1965, to forestall harm to Tanner's brother, Henry Tanner. An interstate telephone call, from Sikeston to Memphis, was involved in the proceedings, the indictment states. The men are charged in three counts.

The second case involves two scheduled for trial today. A Hayti physician, Dr. Levi D. Denton, is charged with dispensing amphetamine sulfate drugs in an unlabeled container without a prescription.

Set for trial May 10 is the case of William L. Schueneberg, Sikeston trucking company operator, charged with Interstate Commerce Commission violations.

Each of the three criminal cases is scheduled for a jury. NEW CASES FILED

Three new criminal cases also have been filed in District Court here.

A Dexter youth, Larry Paul McFarland, has been charged with failure to report for induction into the armed service. McFarland, who was said to be in 1-A draft classification, had been ordered to report to a certain bus station in Bloomfield Jan. 12 for forwarding to an induction center, but failed to do so, the charge stated.

He is scheduled to be arraigned Monday as is Jerry Lipps, 130 South Frederick, Cape Girardeau, who is charged with violation of Motor Carrier Safety regulations.

Paul Patterson of Poplar Bluff is charged with two counts of passing or selling counterfeit $10 bills last Jan. 7.

Civil cases scheduled for today were: Richard N. Smith versus Glen Moore and Lee Shell; Robert L. Cheek versus Thomas L. Stone and Morgan Drive

Endorse $250,000 Bond Issue

POPLAR BLUFF -- Employees of the H. W. Gossard Company and delegates at the Central Labor Council meeting Thursday night have endorsed the no tax-increase $250,000 bond issue to expand the Gossard Artemis plant and provide employment for 100 more residents in Tuesday's special bond issue election.

The union employees have joined Chamber of Commerce, service and civic club members in working for a big turnout of voters Tuesday since the proposition must receive a two-thirds majority under provisions of Missouri's bond issue statutes.

In a statement, a spokesman for the Gossard employees said: "We, as employees of the H. W. Gossard Company of Poplar Bluff and residents of the city endorse the expansion of the plant wholeheartedly."

"We realize this is the best opportunity for employment for women in Poplar Bluff, with the exception of the Government office employees."

"We appreciate good working conditions, a clean shop and fair pay in exchange for quality work."

"We would like to share this opportunity with others of Poplar Bluff who are seeking employment."

At a meeting of the Central Labor Council Thursday night, the delegates expressed their wholehearted approval for the endorsement of the bond issue for the proposed addition to the H. W. Gossard plant.

Fastest Guns In West

STANTON, Mo. AP -- Mr. and Mrs. Bob Graham may be the fastest guns in the West -- or anywhere else, for that matter.

The Houston, Tex., couple proved Sunday in the National Fast Draw Association's world championship that they are the fastest guns around.

Graham, 31, a bespectacled bank-equipment salesman, won his second straight world championship. He averaged .45 of a second -- drawing, shooting and hitting targets -- in the contest's four classes.

His wife, Merrill, 21, a long-haired blonde who looks as good as she shoots, won the women's title with an average drawing and shooting time of .61 of a second. Her fastest was .44.

"I can give the average person a pistol, have him cock it and point it at me and draw and fire before he can," said Graham who uses a modern plastic-lined holster for the old Western sport of gunslinging.

Vote AGAINST Reorganization

We ask the voters of School District No. 6 and School District 5, the following questions:

1. Why haul Sikeston 9th graders to R-5 (Morley-Vanduser) School, a distance of eight miles, and the 7th, 8th, 10th, 11th, and 12th graders from R-5 (Morley - Vanduser) to the schools in Sikeston?

A. How much additional tax money will be required to pay for this additional bus transportation?
B. How much time per day will the children have to spend riding a bus?

2. Why didn't the R-5 (Morley - Vanduser) School Board hold meetings to inform the public and endeavor to get the public's view on re-districting before recommending re-districting?

A majority of people of R-5 (Morley - Vanduser) are satisfied with their present school system.

3. Would not the fair method be by annexation, whereby the voters of R-5 (Morley - Vanduser) would hold an election to decide whether or not they wanted to come to Sikeston? If they voted Yes, then Sikeston would hold an election to decide whether or not to accept them.

Please help us keep our children in our schools.

A second person has been charged with burglary and stealing by Sikeston police in connection with the Wright's and Hale's Jewelry Stores break-ins committed Friday night.

Chief of Police Arthur Bruce said this morning that Robert A. Jones, 36, 614 William, has been charged with entering the Hales Jewelry Store.

James Curtis "Monkey" Rose, 24, 846 Vernon, was apparently caught in the act Friday night while breaking into the Wright's Jewelry store front window by police officer Robert Adkinson.

Officers found Hale's Jewelry store, across the street, also had been broken into. Entry was made through the front

Cross to Mark York's Grave

PALL MALL, Tenn. AP - When the nation honors its war dead on Memorial Day this month, a 12-foot-high cross will mark the hillside resting place of Sgt. Alvin C. York, one of America's greatest heroes.

Reorganization Vote Set For Tomorrow

LEADING character of the "King and I," James Moore III, center, is shown being greeted on the set by Scott county and Sikeston city officials and play director Saturday afternoon. From left, Tony Heckemeyer, Scott County representative; city manager W. Raymeyer Miller, Mrs. Jo Anne Fox, leading female role, Jim Moore, who plays the King of Siam; Mayor Kendall Sikes, Hope Terrell, director of the Little Theater play, and Ernest Elledge, president of the Little Theater. The play will be given at the junior high school this Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and also on May 14.

Tomorrow voters of Scott County will march to the polls to vote on reorganizing the county's seven school districts into two larger districts, R-1 and R-2.

The new R-1 district would be composed of present districts R-1, R-2, R-3, R-4 and C-7. Only voters in those districts will vote whether to form the new R-1 district.

The R-2 district would be made up of present districts R-5 and R-6.

Heavy voting is anticipated in the polling places that are to open at six a.m. and remain open until seven p.m.

Harold Vogel, administrative assistant at Sikeston schools, predicted 2,119 votes will be cast in the Scott Central and Sikeston election.

It is thought that the vote in the northern districts of the county likely will fail.

The polling places in the northern districts are: Kelly High School, Blodgett Schoolhouse, Commerce Masonic House, Diehlstadt Schoolhouse, Lusk Store, Ilmo City Hall, Scott City City Hall, Oran Gymnasium, New Hamburg School, Chaffee Elementary School and Chaffee City Hall.

In a meeting held Thursday night in the Oran Gymnasium, Superintendent R. E. Sharp of Oran Schools, said the two districts in the southern part of the county would not face the transportation or building problems that would be encountered in the northern portion.

The Oran board of education reported 6-0 against reorganization at this time.

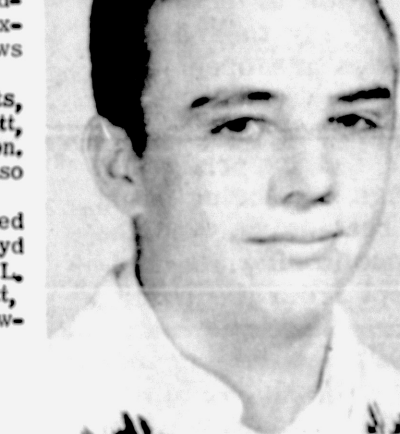

Approximately 40 units are presently being offered at the Oran High School. It was admitted that more courses could be offered.

Sharp also said, "It would be extremely doubtful if the combined districts in the northern area could furnish the bonding capacity to build a million to a one and a quarter million dollar plant which would almost certainly be imperative for such a large undertaking."

"If this is true, then each high school would be forced to remain in the same location until adequate bonding capacity was possible, offering no advantage for some time, but creating much confusion."

Polling places in the southern part of the county are: Sikeston -- Airport School, Southwest School, Lee Hunter School, Junior High School, Matthews School, Miner City Hall, Morley Elementary School, Vanduser Elementary School and Scott Central high school.

Students Elected Change of Venue for Lasters

Rovena Hillsman, business education teacher at Sikeston schools and sponsor of the local organization, said the group has made "splendid progress" during the short time the club has been established in Sikeston schools.

Other Sikeston students attending the convention here were Janet Butrum, Becky Ziegenhorn, Steve Stewart, Elaine Dockins, Eureka Powers and Phonda Snow.

The students toured the Capital Building Saturday and the Meramac Caverns yesterday before returning to Sikeston.

POPLAR BLUFF -- William Elmo Lasters, 35 of Sikeston, who is charged with the robbery of the State Bank of Fisk, took a change of venue this week on a charge of driving while intoxicated, according to Judge Francis M. Kinder of the Butler County Magistrate Court.

Judge Kinder said that Lasters would appear in Ripley County Magistrate Court. Lasters, who was arrested by Trooper J. J. Rouse of the State Highway Patrol, took the change of venue on a charge of driving while intoxicated on April 1.

He is also charged with the robbery of the State Bank of Fisk where $5,914.18 was taken on December 2, 1965.

Lifetime Income From Estate

CHARLESTON -- The estate of Emily Voelker Taussig, widow of Amadee J. Taussig, a mining engineer, was valued at $961,553 in an inventory filed Saturday in probate court.

"If any member of the Klan in this state commits an act of violence, I personally will do everything I can to see that his name is given to law enforcement authorities," he threatened.

He said the reason the Klan has spread into Missouri is because, "people in this state, as in all other states, are becoming more and more concerned over the mass of unconstitutional laws coming out of Washington. One of the principal objectives of the Klan in Missouri will be to unite the people at the polls."

The grand dragons said the Klan was anti-semitic "basically because of religion."

The new Missouri Grand Dragon said he is the first person "in modern times" to hold that title in this state.

Violence and cross burnings will not be tolerated in the Missouri Klan, the leader said.

Some of the members of the Sikeston Little Theatre will appear on the KFSV TV Breakfast Show, Cape Girardeau, at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday. They will present musical numbers from their current production, "The King and I."

This musical by Rodgers and Hammerstein is being presented by arrangement with Chappell and Company, Publishers, and will be given at the junior high school auditorium on May 6 and 7 at 8 p.m. and on Sunday, May 8, as a matinee at 2 p.m. and also on Saturday, May 14, at 8 p.m.

STARTING A FIRE proved difficult over the weekend as patrols of Boy Scouts from Charleston and Sikeston attended the camporee at Lyle Bird farm. The scouts were allowed two matches on this string burning contest. The fire could be made with kindling only and the strings placed at a height of 18 and 26 inches. The Scouts were successful after dry wood was found.

Camporee Successful On Lyle Bird Farm

The wet weather over the weekend did not cancel the Okeechobee camporee at the Lyle Bird farm, as 200 Boy Scouts completed their camping requirements.

Nine troops were represented at the camporee, and were from Sikeston, Charleston, New Madrid and East Prairie.

The troops were divided into patrols, and the contests were divided in such manner that all patrols were able to score in the point system in two categories, ranging from 550 to 840, and a higher system from 840 to 1,000 points. All nine troops managed to receive a ribbon award, with Troop 59, Sikeston, receiving the top award with 886 points. The average for the nine troops was 750 points.

The training included inspection for a correct Scout campsite, fire building, rope lashing for campsite activities.

The intermittent showers did not hamper the activities, but caused inconvenience to a number of leaders and sponsors who drove to the campsite, and were stuck on the soft roadway leading to the campgrounds. A tractor was kept busy early Saturday pulling some of the cars through the mud.

POPLAR BLUFF -- Two Lilbourn youths, Bobby Eugene Melton, 21, and Lonnie Allen Reid, 18, are being held in the Butler county jail for robbery committed sometime Saturday night.

The robbery occurred at the Carr Bargain Barn, five miles south of Poplar Bluff on highway 153, where Malden police apprehended the pair.

Stolen property in the amount of $571 was recovered by the Malden police, which the two admitted stealing. The two were also implicated in a second robbery of another country store, near the St. Francis bridge, the same evening.

Today, authorities in New Madrid, stated they would interrogate the two youths for robberies of at least a half dozen places in their county.

Montgomery's automobile, in which he was a passenger, was involved in a collision which took the life of Miss Glenda Wiles.

The driver of the car, Miss Betty Lou Sells, was sentenced to three years in an involuntary manslaughter charge but the Tennessee Supreme Court reversed the conviction. Her trial, also scheduled today, was also set for May 23.

AMERICAN BIKE MONTH

Along about the turn of the century, bicycling reached the dimensions of a craze in this country and abroad. Cycle clubs on a coeducational basis were formed everywhere and were the source of lasting fun for young and old. Cycle racing found a vast audience. There are people still active to whom the old high-wheeler brings back nostalgic memories.

In time, the bike had run its course. Use of the cycle was pretty well confined to the very young. But in recent years, it has again found its popularity increasing. Bike clubs have been coming back in many places. Bike sports, formal and informal, are attracting a respectable following.

That gives significance to American Bike Month, which is scheduled for the May 1-31 period. Its purpose is both simple and important: "To help make cycling healthier, happier, safer, and more fun than it already is." The bike rider of today lives in a world that is vastly different from that of fifty or sixty years ago. Streets and highways are thronged with automobiles, and every one of them offers potential disaster to the carelessly ridden and handled bike. The rules of bike safety must be thoroughly learned--and undeviatingly followed.

Cycling is a healthy sport and a fun sport. It's good to see it on the upswing once more. And the heavier the emphasis on safety, the better it will be.

The Colonel told his sons: "Nothing pleases a woman so much as to have her husband pay her a little attention when other women are present."

LET GEORGE DO IT

Democratic voters in Alabama will go to the polls on Tuesday (May 3) to choose candidates for Governor, U.S. Senate, and U.S. House.

THE DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY in Alabama is the first pragmatic test of the Voting Rights Act of 1965. Although on the surface the new legislation may seem ineffective, a revolution in the politics of the Deep South is already evident. Like most revolutions, it may take several courses before a new order is established, and it may well eat its young.

The situation in Alabama is not unique, but it is most unusual. All the interest--from the point of view of a distant observer--centers about the race for Governor. The expected opposition to Sen. John J. Sparkman has evaporated except for Adm. John G. Crommelin (Ret.), an extreme right-winger and four-time loser, and two others who do not need to be identified. The gubernatorial field has 10 entries, but only five really count, and of these five one is almost an odds-on favorite. Inasmuch as Gov. George C. Wallace is constitutionally barred from succeeding himself, he is running his wife, Lurline, to keep title to the executive mansion. She says if she's elected she'll, "Let George do it."

THE FOUR SERIOUS OPPONENTS OF Lurline-George are former U.S. Rep. Carl Elliott (1949-65), a moderate; state Attorney Gen. Richard Flowers, a segregationist turned liberal; State Sen. Bob Gilchrist, who blocked a constitutional amendment that would have given Wallace a chance at a second term; and former Gov. John M. Patterson (1947-51), a recent moderate.

The five other candidates not given much chance include former Gov. James E. (Kissin' Jim) Folsom (1947-51, 1955-59), who has taken a good look at the registration lists, and one Eunice I. Gore, who says that God asked him to run -- and that will give you some idea of politics in Alabama. The Republican nomination, incidentally, will go to Rep. James D. Martin, conservative segregationist.

The reason all these adjectives don't mean very much is that Alabama suddenly has about 230,000 registered Negro voters -- about a fourth of the total.

ONLY ONE GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE, Attorney Gen. Flowers, is making a direct appeal for Negro votes. But even the Wallaces don't speak of segregation as such, and as of mid-April an Alabama reporter said that he had yet to hear at a political rally the word "nigger." Wallace does preach states' rights, local government, and "our property ownership system," and his white listeners know what he means.

Patterson, previously an explicit segregationist, now says Alabama will lose out if "we continue the loud, defiant, no-action-but-talk demagoguery course now set." Elliott pledges to "reopen the lines of communication with Washington." Gilchrist calls himself "the only real conservative in the state," but he too sounds off about the "demagogues" who have "planted the seeds of discord."

The chances are that Flowers will get a pretty solid Negro vote, despite his opponents' attempts at fractioning. But he would have to get 85 per cent of the black vote to get into the May 31 run-off with Lurline-George.

On the other hand, Lurline could take it all with a majority vote and avoid a run-off. In any event, she looks a sure candidate, and a sure winner, even if, improbably, the Negroes should bolt to Republican Martin in November. It looks as if George most certainly will be doing it.

Enough information has been printed about the proposed reorganization of the Sikeston and Scott Central school systems into a single district so that every citizen living in the two districts can vote intelligently.

Only informed citizens should vote. Any citizen who doesn't understand the issues involved or the basic proposal should stay away from the polls Tuesday.

Many issues have been introduced into the election but the single, overriding one is what procedure provides the best education for the children living in the two districts?

Some, perhaps many, votes will be cast on a basis of prejudice or from ignorance. Actual prejudice is a form of ignorance because it closes people's minds before they can make an intelligent decision based on the available information.

It isn't too late for any citizen to inform himself. It will be time well spent. Tuesday's election is important because the future of the children in two districts is involved. The quality of the education that they will receive will have a great influence on their future. The public schools are the cornerstone of that education.

The consensus of opinion at the coffee table is that an undeclared war is just about as expensive as the regulation kind.

If a person, particularly a public servant, is 'big enough' to say something, then certainly he should be big enough to be held responsible to the public.

During the last two months, we have sent one of our newsmen to cover events that are transpiring in the Charleston R-1 School District. The last two times he was present at a board of education meeting, the doors were closed after he was asked to leave the room.

In a meeting held Wednesday afternoon, the board of education did not even vote to close the doors. The president rendered the decision himself to bar-the-doors.

In most instances, a newspaper just has to report that barred-door-sessions are being held and the public will demand that the doors be left open at all times, which is not asking too much, unless of course the board is taking unlawful or immoral or purely selfish actions.

Why do public officials who do not have anything to hide from the public feel they can consistently operate behind closed doors to conduct the public's business?

Since the beginning of newspapers, politicians and public officials conduct business in a fashion that would not meet approval of the public.

For them newsmen have created problems and rightfully so, for a newspaper's function is to translate and report information to the public.

Sure, it seems all right to say the records or minutes of public meetings are open to be reviewed by anyone.

What public officials do not realize, is that oftentimes, it is not what has happened that is important, it is the things that bring about the decisions that is the real story. And the events that bring about a public officials decision is the most often kept from the public.

Dr. Harris B. Stewart, Jr., chief oceanographer of the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, says: "We are most intrigued by the great potential that the ocean holds for the betterment of mankind. It is man's last great resource on earth. The time has come to realize that if we are to survive on this earth, we must first understand the intricate workings of the global sea and the role this great body of water will play in the future of the race."

More than 4,000,000 persons were killed or injured on U.S. highways in 1965.

This grim message is contained in The Travelers Insurance Companies annual highway accident booklet, which reports 48,500 deaths and 4,100,000 injured last year. Statistics in the booklet were compiled from reports by state motor vehicle departments.

The trail of death and destruction in 1965 marked the first time the casualty count has exceeded the 4,000,000 level. Fatalities increased by one per cent over 1964; injuries were up by seven per cent.

Young drivers--those under 25 years of age--again led the list of offenders. And their collective record in 1965 was substantially worse than in any previous year.

Although these younger persons represent only about 18 per cent of all licensed drivers, they were involved in more than 30 per cent of all fatal accidents and 28 per cent of all non-fatal mishaps.

"Sooner or later," says a Travelers spokesman, "the traffic toll will reach proportions where the nation will no longer tolerate such destruction on the highways."

The company in 1965 announced it would sponsor a massive research program designed to study man and his environment. The first phase of this program will deal with man and the automobile and will include research on the interaction of the driver, the car and the environment.

Travelers already has invested $250,000 in this study and expects to contribute thousands more as research continues.

On October 1, 1963 Yorty staged an affair at the Palladium billed as a "birthday dinner" for himself. It netted $48,000. 1963 was not a campaign year.

On July 22, 1964 a big gala was held in Yorty's honor at the Ambassador Hotel. It was billed as a "civil dinner" in Yorty's honor and netted an estimated $135,000. 1964 was not a city election year, and there was no excuse to raise money for a campaign.

On November 12, 1965, just after Yorty had defeated Jimmy Roosevelt, a big dinner was held once again at the Hollywood Palladium called "a community tribute" to Yorty. It brought in an estimated $162,000.

Add to this approximately $75,000 which Yorty received from advertising in his dinner programs, and the total take for the five dinners was around $690,000.

WHO SPENT THE MONEY?

When Yorty was running in 1965 against Rep. James Roosevelt, he officially reported spending $204,882 for election expenses. His treasurer did not list any Yorty dinners among his sources of income. Altogether Yorty has collected a total of $900,000 in private funds since becoming mayor on July 1, 1961, but has spent only around $400,000 on his two political campaigns.

So the big question is: What happened to the rest of the money? Part of it could be accounted for by reports that Yorty is spending around $200,000 in his present race for governor.

When the mayor has been asked the purpose of raising money through testimonial dinners, he coyly replied, "voter education."

This covers a very broad spectrum. One case of voter

"deal" with the enemy, i.e., bending over backwards to accommodate him.

Another reason was tied up in the arguments advanced in behalf of the wheat sale. The gist of these arguments held that we would merely share our surplus with those who would otherwise go hungry. Seeing through this reasoning, there were many who remembered that it was just this sort of rationale that launched foreign aid 18 years ago.

One of the strangest reasons put forth in support of the wheat deal said that other countries which buy our wheat sell it to communist nations so why shouldn't we sell directly to the Soviets?

If it is stupid to help a Godless enemy who has no conception of what is moral, who has enslaved millions; who kills human dignity wherever possible; who feels that bloody revolutions and genocide are every-day means of accomplishing its own evil goals, then it does not become "smart" to help that enemy just because other nations do.

Another argument averred that the wheat deal would be a good way to advertise the private enterprise system. Once again the cold fact shows how false the argument is. The controlled press of the communist world gave a twisted account of the wheat deal; the Soviet Union was helping American wheat farmers.

The sad fact about these arguments is that they were so obviously false from the beginning. And there was the American citizen while all the votes on the wheat deal were being taken in the Legislative branch. This was one of the most important issues to come before the Congress in many years; it will likely have a bearing on the future of every living American for years to come.

Was the majority of American voters aware of the major votes taken on the issue? Did the majority of these voters express their desires to their Congressmen before each vote was taken? No, this majority did not--and the reason is simple: It did not take the time to understand. Ostensibly since the credit law passed, it would appear that the electorate had spoken its opinion. But did they?

Would one voter in 100 know: On Dec. 16, the House sent the foreign aid bill back to committee with instructions to bar credit to communist countries? That on Dec. 21, the House instructed its conferees to "insist" on disagreement with a Senate amendment which gave the Executive branch discretionary authority to allow credit?

That on Dec. 24 (in a mad, but understandable, turmoil of pressure and the lure of having Christmas at home) the House gave the Executive branch that authority?

And most important, that the main point of contention of the whole matter rested on the very balance of power between the Executive and Legislative branches, on the Constitution itself?

No, it was all too complicated. The issue was whether the Congress should take a moral stand against helping the enemy, thus setting foreign policy in refusing to allow such aid. It had the power to do so, but it reversed the stand it had taken a mere eight days before. The credit allowance to our sworn enemy is now the law of the land. We can criticize it all we like, but it is still the law.

Will the voter who did not take the time to understand live to regret this law? Time will tell. If the planners were wrong, and if this aid to the enemy was a historic misstep, we cannot blame our planners. We will know wherein lies the blame.

It has been computed that of every 100,000 persons examined for their intelligence, about 6,750 would be rated very superior, 13,000 better-than-average, 13,000 below average, and 750 morons.

Adam Clayton Powell Succeeded in Drive For Probe Of National Unions on Racial Issues

Washington, D. C. -- Behind closed doors many a labor leader cusses out Harlem's Congressman Adam Clayton Powell. Out front they try never to aggravate him.

He drives a hard bargain. He is in a position to do so. His strength is as the strength of ten because he controls the Education and Labor Committee through which, he tells me, must pass some 40 per cent of all the nation's new social laws.

The other day, virtually unnoticed by the country, he got his first payment on one such tough bargain privately made with the labor leaders. This payment was in the form of a bill -- passed by the House--which could rip the lid off unions long closed, except for token membership, to Negroes, Puerto Ricans, Mexican-Americans and other minorities.

With labor support, the bill known as "Equal Employment Opportunity Act of 1966," was passed overwhelmingly by a score of 298 to 94.

But the labor people were hardly ecstatic.

The bill, if it passes the Senate and is signed, makes the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) a powerful, almost independent, investigatory body, which can probe unions as well as businesses and employment agencies.

The Commission would have its own staff. Written in the most unequivocal language possible by Congressman Augustus Hawkins, representative of the California district which includes the Watts area, the bill makes each of the Commission's five members a powerful figure.

Under this proposed law, neither the commission nor the chairman, nor any member need await any complaints. Any one member, or the board itself, can start a probe.

If one or all of a group of the commissioners believe there are violations of the equal employment or equal membership laws, they could then prevail on the Commission itself to issue a cease and desist order. The Commission need not first go into court. The courts would be called on to enforce the EEOC's decisions, not make them in the first place.

Thus one member, concerned over reports of civil rights groups, could look into the records of a union, as well as of a business or employment agency.

Thus the Commission becomes a quasi-judicial agency and the labor people know that both Rev.

Powell and Mr. Hawkins are geared for a showdown battle with the AFL-CIO's building and construction trades unions. If there is any doubt of this, it would have gone with the wind after hearing Rev. Powell's attack on these unions as the "worst" offenders.

Many a construction union chief has shuddered at the mental picture of himself in the witness chair at a commission hearing, books spread before him, and one or more commission members grilling him before the press and broadcasting assemblage.

These union men cannot even count on their good friend, Commission Chairman Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., to attempt to mediate the conflict.

He is expected to declare himself a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination in New York shortly -- and resign his federal post. And a new chairman is not likely to be as close to the unions as the son of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Why then did labor back Congressman Powell's prized Hawkins bill? Why did the unionists tell administration leaders in the House they were for it?

Because Rev. Powell had promised to deliver to them the one thing they've wanted most for many years -- something the insiders call "common situs."

"Common situs," if it became law, would give labor the right to picket the common site of a building and construction project involving several employers (contractors).

For example, if 20 firms are involved in the construction of some special launching complexes at the moonport and the piffeters get into a dispute with just one of those contractors, the unions now can legally only picket the one contractor.

Under the law now sought by labor, the union would be able to picket all the contractors by virtue of the right to picket at all the gates. This would shut down the project.

It would affect all the other contractors now involved in the fight between one union and one firm.

Of course, it would give the bulk of the labor movement considerably more strength -- for then one lone picket at each gate could shut down one massive project.

But Rev. Powell had the common situs picketing bill bottled up in committee. He would not let go until he had made his bargain with the labor leaders.

They'd have to back to the Hawkins bill if they wanted to get their own out on the House floor. The deal was made.

Now comes the Senate.

On the Set With 'The King and I'

By THEDAMAY CLEEK
Patsy Mitchell plays the role of "Lady Thiang," the head wife of the "King of Siam." She is much more elaborately dressed than the lesser wives. One of her costumes consists of a green and gold metallic blouse woven into a floral design with which she wears a yellow silk shirt. Another outstanding piece of apparel worn by Patsy is a turquoise and gold robe with a large gold shoulder sash. This is an authentic robe brought from Asia by Bebe Matthews and loaned for the play.

Other wives of the King, Shirley Davidson, Kay Hunter, Billie Sue McCann, Charlene Freeman, Greer Huff, Carole Sue Clayton, Mary Cooney, Martha Bess, Rose Napier and Judy Matthews will be adorned in various colored blouses trimmed with braid, sequins, beading and jewels. With these brilliant hued blouses they will wear matching skirts. All of the blouses have been made by Margaret Seabough, who has helped with the set and will also be working with the makeup crew. "Prince Chul" played by Alex Waters III is more elegantly dressed than the rest of the King's children. He has jackets and tunics of bright colors trimmed with braid and jewels which he wears over red, gold and black penangs.

Other children, Princess Ying, played by Susie Mitchell, Royal Princesses, played by Melody Powell, Michelle Powell, Maureen Klein, Susie Groleau, Jane Campbell, Paula Doyle, Brenda Stewart and Connie Campagna. Royal Princes, played by Mike Carden, Steven Waters, David McCann and the smallest in the cast (in size only), Billy Klein, will be attired in costumes of brilliant colored penangs for the boys and phenagons for the girls. With these bloused pants they will wear solid color tops and atop each and every head will be a gold chignon. All the chignons for the children and also for the dancers, have been made by Suzanne Ashley.

The mothers of the Royal Children have been very helpful to the costume crew. They have made the costumes for their own children thus relieving the committee, composed of Joyce Miller, costume designer, Donna Koch, Wanda Seabough, Margaret Seabough and Nora McMullin, wardrobe chairman, to work on costumes of other members of the cast.

Some of the costumes to be worn by the Royal Dancers were rented and some were bought but this does not tell the whole story. The costume for Buddha, for instance, got a complete "overhaul" job on the spot by Richard Fussell. He didn't like the "soda straw" effect of the head dress so decided to make a complete head cover that will be authentic Buddha type. The costumes for the ballet are predominately rose and orange and they too were revamped to give a prettier effect. Epaulettes are being added to the shoulders and different head dresses is being used.

"The Amazons, played by Jan Sargent, Laurie Hillsman, Doris Ray and Patty Lewis all wear epaulettes over black knit blouses. With this they wear striped skirts with black and red predominating.

There are many more costumes, for slaves, priests, nuns, etc., but I have not seen them all nor have I seen all the many helpful persons working for this committee. I still must tell you about the music for after all, it is a musical. That, I will do next.

Polly's Pointers

Rug Riddle Needs Answer

By Polly Cramer, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY--Will someone please tell me how to get the matting out of a dense pile nylon rug? --MRS. J. J.

Polly

DEAR POLLY--My Pointer has certainly saved us a lot of headaches. When writing personal checks we fill in the stub portion first and then write the check. When writing the check first, particularly when distracted or in a hurry, it is very easy to forget to fill in the stub. Then later comes that all-time question: "What was that check for and for how much?" --JANE

DEAR GIRLS and our GENTLEMEN FRIENDS, too--I really liked this as I have often written the check to pay a bill, put it in an envelope and sealed it and then became so occupied with addressing the envelope that the stub was forgotten.--POLLY

DEAR POLLY--We always keep a putty knife near the freezer and find it handy to use when removing frozen foods from the freezer.--GEORGE

DEAR POLLY--My parents have a clothes chute from their upstairs hall down to the basement laundry. Mom tried so many different bins to catch the laundry at the foot of the chute but they were not large enough for the whole week's wash and turned over if heavy items caught on the sides. She solved this problem by purchasing a large old chest of drawers at a used furniture sale. She knocked the bottoms out of all the drawers except one. They were stacked and nailed together. After a little sanding and painting she had a large heavy bin which holds everything and does not tip over even when sheets fall into it.--MRS. L. W. I.

DEAR POLLY--Our medicine cabinet mirror door would not slide easily so I took a baby's cotton-tipped stick and put a bit of petroleum jelly on the tip, rubbed it in the grooves and now they slide smoothly. This does not make a mess and does not have to be repeated very often. It is such a relief to be saved that jerking and noise.--MARJORIE

DEAR POLLY--While scrubbing my carpet I thought of a grand use for your famous nylon net. This is fabulous. The nylon net does not hold water so it can be dipped in the water, it catches the suds you want and the carpet does not get soaked.--EVELYN

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a weak week for Willie. While everyone waited for him to hit his 512th home run, Willie Mays was having trouble hitting anything.

Mays added to his recent problem Sunday by suffering a bruised left knee in San Francisco's 2-0 victory over St. Louis.

The injury, suffered in a first base collision with the Cardinals' George Kernek, forced Mays from the game in the fourth inning, marking the third time in the past week that he left a game before it was over.

A cold and an upset stomach sent Mays home early last Tuesday and Wednesday and kept him out of the line-up altogether Thursday. Contributing to his ills was a bruised right hand which hampered his swing and caused him to throw his bat a couple of times.

The result has been a drastic reduction in his hitting output. When he hit his 511th homer and tied Mel Ott's National League career record last Sunday, it gave Mays six homers in the Giants' first 12 games.

But six games later Mays not only failed to break the record, he also has seen his batting average drop 62 points from .348 to .286.

In other National League games Pittsburgh walloped New York 8-0, Los Angeles downed Cincinnati 3-0, Houston whipped Atlanta 7-1, and Chicago defeated Philadelphia 6-1.

Pittsburgh's Bob Veale pitched a four-hitter and received lustered support from Roberto Clemente. Clemente lashed two doubles and two singles, scoring two runs and driving in two. Mays Alou triggered a five-run fifth inning with a double and added a triple in the sixth.

Mike Cuellar of Houston posted the third four-hitter of the day, losing a shutout when Hank Aaron homered in the ninth. Jim Gentile hit a two-run homer, John Bateman added a three-run blast and Lee Maye connected with none on.

The Los Angeles Dodgers bunched three of their four hits for three runs in the third inning. John Roseboro's leadoff double was one of the hits while a run-scoring hit singled by pitcher Don Sutton and another bunt single by Maury Wills were the others.

The Cubs, who made four errors themselves, took advantage of six Philadelphia errors for their unearned as a result of two errors by Tony Taylor and one each by Clay Dalrymple, Larry Jackson, John Briggs and Tony Gonzalez.

Little League Meeting Tonight

MOREHOUSE -- A meeting will be held at 7 p.m. tonight in the City Hall to elect Little League officials and adopt a plan of organization.

Adults or parents interested in joining the league are asked to attend this meeting.

Ushering at a base theater, a young private was having a great deal of trouble satisfying a lieutenant. There were few seats left and none pleased the officer. "I want something in the center aisle," he kept insisting.

In exasperation the private said, "Right this way, sir." The theater was pitch dark and there was much confusion, many "excuse me's" and "sorry's."

Finally the lieutenant came back out into the aisle. "Soldier," he growled, "there are no seats in the center row!" "Yes, sir," said the private. "That's what I've been trying to tell you."

At the hospital nurses heard cries of "Help! Help!" coming from the room of a 96-year-old woman who had broken her hip. They rushed in to find that she was thirsty.

"Why don't you push the buzzer?" a nurse asked. "I've done that," she said, "and nothing happens. But when I yell, 'Help! Help!' everybody comes at once."

McDowell Pitches Second Straight One Hit Game

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

They're calling him Sudden Sam McDowell, but Sensational Sam would seem to be more appropriate for a pitcher who has collected as many hits in one game as he's given up in two.

McDowell, Cleveland's ace left-hander, collected two hits Sunday and his second straight one-hitter, allowing only a bloop double by Don Buford in the second inning as he pitched the Indians to a 1-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

The feat of hurling successive one-hitters had been accomplished only three previous times in major league history, by Lon Warneke when he was with the Chicago Cubs, Monty Cooper when he was with the St. Louis Cardinals and Whitey Ford of the New York Yankees.

McDowell also lived up to his Sudden label, applied because of his blazing speed, by striking out 10 and bringing his major league-leading total to 49. The undefeated southpaw also became the first American League pitcher to win four games and lowered his earn run average to a sparkling 1.54.

The victory was the 11th in 12 games this season for the Indians, who started off by winning their first 10 games. The 10-game winning streak was matched Sunday by the Baltimore Orioles, who lifted their record to 12-1 by defeating Detroit 4-1.

The other AL teams played doubleheaders and all split. Minnesota lost to Washington 5-3, then pulled out of its tailspin by winning 3-1. California whipped Boston 6-1 but the Red Sox cruised to a 9-1 second game victory. Kansas City blanked New York 1-0 before the Yankees drubbed the A's 10-4.

Boggs Powell hit a two-run homer for the Orioles in the fourth inning and Brooks Robinson stroked a two-run single in the fifth. That was enough as Steve Barber and Dick Hall kept eight Tiger hits well scattered.

Don Lock drove home three runs with a homer and a single for the Senators in the opener and they held on behind reliever

Casey Cos despite homers by Earl Battey and Harmon Killebrew.

Jim (Mudcat) Grant won the nightcap for the Twins, who had lost seven of their previous eight games. Grant allowed eight hits but drove in two runs with a second-inning single. Joe Adcock, Jim Fregosi and Jack Warner unloaded homers as the Angels whipped the Red Sox in the opener. But Jerry Stephenson handcuffed the Californians in the nightcap, becoming the first Boston pitcher this season to complete a game as he scattered nine hits.

The A's won their opener behind Rolfe Sheldon's three-hitter. Ossie Chavarría's double and a single by Ken Suarez produced the game's only run off Whitey Ford in the sixth inning.

The nightcap was another story as the Yankees overcame a 4-2 deficit with a six-run sixth inning explosion triggered by Roy White's homer. Lou Clinton's two-run single, a two-run double by Jake Gibbs and a run-scoring single by Bobby Richardson wrapped it up.

Major College Track Round-Up

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Villanova appears to have a new track dynasty in the making, Texas A&M has a well-known behemoth reviving and Jim Grelle has to do some thinking.

Those were the major developments in a busy weekend of track and field activity, centered in three widespread meets.

In the Penn Relays at Philadelphia, Villanova's 19-year-old Dave Patrick was named the outstanding performer after leading his sophomore teammates through the rain and cold for a couple of surprising victories in the feature relays.

In the Drake Relays at Des Moines, Iowa, Texas A & M's Randy Matson repeated a double, winning both the shot--with one of his best efforts of the year--and the discus.

In the Mount San Antonio Relays at Walnut, Calif., the veteran miler Grelle turned to the 5,000 meters, won with his usual blistering kick and must be wondering if he's been running the wrong race all these years.

"Patrick could be a great miler," Villanova coach Jumbo Jim Elliott said after the shy youngster led the Wildcats to their surprise.

Patrick staged a come-from-behind finish Saturday with a 1:53 flat half mile on Villanova's 7:39.3 two-mile relay. Again, the weather conditions were intolerable.

The two victories stamped the Wildcats as a major power again, since all four members of the two-mile team were sophomores, three of them doubling on the other Villanova winner.

At Des Moines, Matson took the discus in a mediocre 185-4 and the shot in a solid 65-33/4, one of his best of the year and a meet record.

Matson, the young giant who holds the world record at 70-7, has voiced his concern over his performance and condition several times this season, but gained confidence with his second straight double.

The outstanding athlete award, however, went to Van Nelson, an unheralded distance man from St. Cloud, Minn., State, who out-logged seasoned competition for a meet record in the three-mile Friday and another victory in the six-mile Saturday. The times were 13:29.2 and 28:48.6.

Jim Ryan, Kansas' teen-age mile sensation, was a mild disappointment, taking his event in 4:05.6.

Grelle turned on his familiar, devastating kick to beat seasoned George Young in 14:10.8 in the 5,000 meters, an unfamiliar distance for Grelle, who has run more sub-four miles than any other American.

In other highlights of the California meet, John Pennel and Sam Kirk each cleared 17 feet in the pole vault, Pennel winning on fewer misses, and St. John's Tommy Farrell ran a sparkling 1:47.9 half mile.

While in high school, Tim was outstanding in baseball as well as football and basketball, gaining for himself a place on the First Team All-Conference Baseball Team, the First Team All-Conference Basketball team and was given honorable mention to the All-American football team. He was selected by his teammates as co-captain in all three sports and was awarded the Frank Miller honorary sports award.

National League To Hold Meeting

By JACK HAND

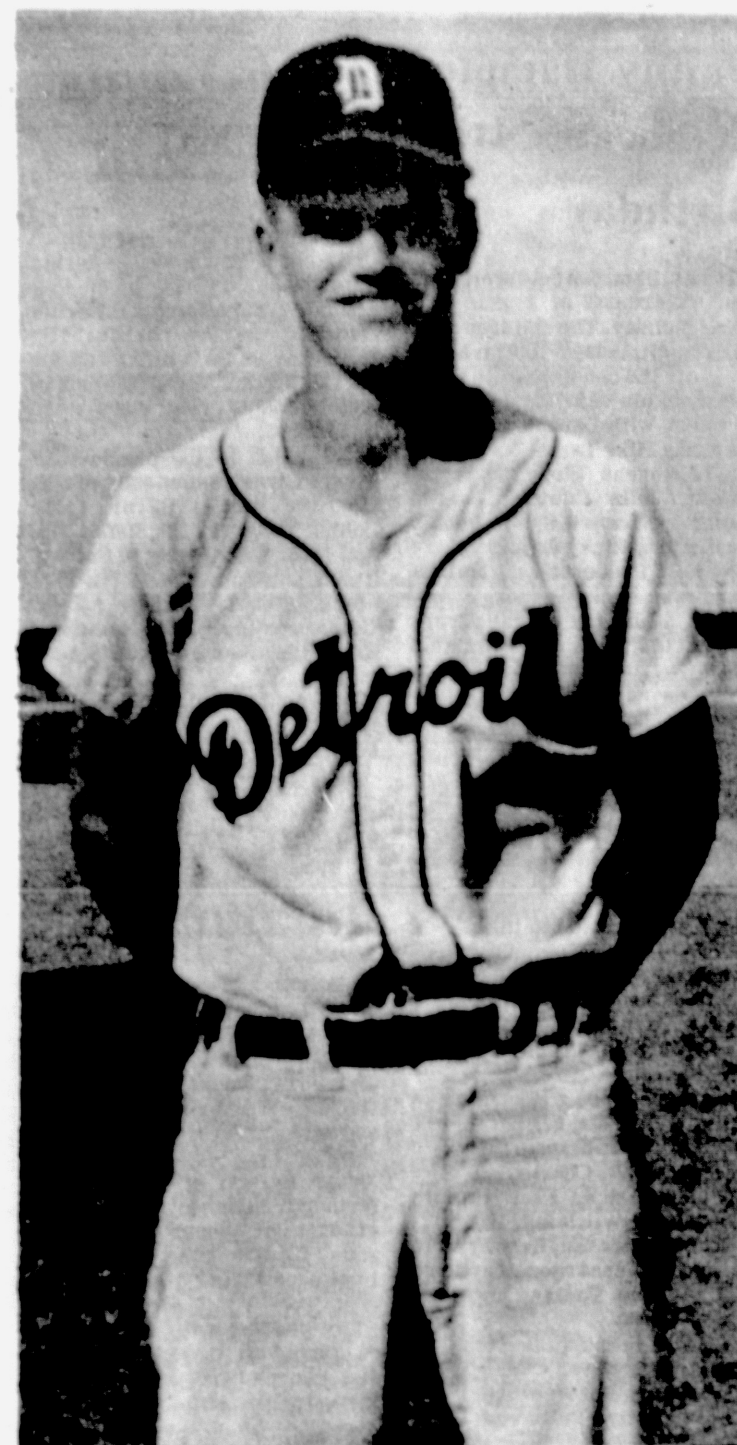

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK AP -- The Milwaukee-Atlanta situation will be discussed at a special meeting of the National League late Monday afternoon, a day before the two major leagues hold a joint session.

Although Wisconsin Circuit Court Judge Elmer Roller ordered the Braves to return to Atlanta May 18 if the league had not made expansion plans for 1967, including Milwaukee, by May 16, there was no indication of any immediate expansion.

"Expansion will be discussed," said league president Warren Giles before leaving his Cincinnati home. "I do not anticipate any action will be taken at this meeting."

"We will hear the report of our counsel on the Wisconsin case. It may be necessary to

Tim Garner

Garner Assigned To Daytona Team

Tim Garner of Sikeston has just finished spring training with the Detroit Tigers Baseball Team at Tigertown, outside of Lakeland, Florida. Tigertown has living and playing accommodations for more than 200 officials, managers, coaches, trainers and players. Four playing fields enable eight full squads to engage in fundamental and competitive activity simultaneously under observation from a central tower. Extra facilities for player development include the only field house in a baseball camp, a line of pitching mounds, a special practice infield, and a "trap wall" for specialized training of infielders, along with batting cages. Spring training lasted from March 1 to April 18.

Tim was assigned to play Class A ball with the Daytona Islanders at Daytona Beach, Florida as their first-string catcher. Tim played baseball at Murray State University and Arkansas State College. He went to Bryan, Texas two summers with the Sikeston Connie Mack Team and was named the Outstanding Catcher of the Regional Tournament in 1963. Garner was on the Sikeston Babe Ruth League Team that went to the World Series in Stockton, California in 1959.

calling on the Braves and the league to fulfill a 25-year contract for use of the new stadium in Atlanta.

The entire matter almost certainly will wind up in the U. S. Supreme Court sooner or later.

When you have got a thing where you want it, it is a good thing to leave it where it is.

A MODERN ELECTRONIC ENGINE PERFORMANCE ANALYSIS IS LIKE A DOCTOR'S X-RAY

When you go to your Doctor for a checkup, he usually insists on an X-ray, to determine the exact condition of the vital organs that control body processes. An electronic diagnosis of your engine and its electrical system is like an X-ray in that it determines the exact condition of each part and component that controls car performance. Many vital engine parts are out of sight. It is impossible, for example, to see the action of the distributor points under actual working conditions. However, with our modern Rotunda Electronic Diagnosis Equipment, the exact condition of all such hidden parts is clearly indicated on the oscilloscope screen. Nothing is left to guesswork--nothing is overlooked. Let our trained diagnosis technicians give you a complete report on every phase of your engine's performance. It will pay big dividends in helping you to avoid future trouble.

Government positions pay high starting salaries. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience.

But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competition is keen and in some cases only one out of five pass.

Lincoln Service has helped thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest, privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

Collins Will Be Arraigned Wednesday

CARUTHERSVILLE -- James A. Collins, 37, charged with the murder by rape of Mrs. Sue Melton, 23, will be arraigned in Pemiscot circuit court Wednesday. At that time all motions to be filed in the case will be heard.

Collins is scheduled to go on trial May 10.

Judge Arthur U. Goodman of Kennett has been named to preside at the trial.

Collins was arrested Aug. 28 and charged with the murder of Mrs. Melton of Memphis, after the victim was found by a Caruthersville couple on the Boat Club Chute Road, several miles west of Caruthersville, at 12:05 a.m. Aug. 28, and taken to the Pemiscot Memorial Hospital where she died of internal injuries and loss of blood.

Collins was arraigned in magistrate court Sept. 17 and in later proceedings Judge William L. Ragland was disqualified and Judge Goodman appointed to try the case.

New Speak, 1966

EDDY GILMORE, whose eye for the odd and ear for nuance have marked his entertaining and instructive reporting during 25 years in AP Foreign Service, came home for another refresher trip recently.

During his trip he spoke in 45 cities on a lecture tour and returned to his London base with a new slant on U. S. language and mores.

Disappearance of the double-breasted suit and of two-story houses are obvious, he reports. His comments on the language: Six years ago I discovered that the word OPERATION had become unfashionable and SURGERY was the vogue word. Those who had an OPERATION in 1960 had SURGERY.

Four years ago the new word was DEAL. Houses, families, automobiles, love affairs, situations became DEALS -- overworked to the point of tedium.

Two years ago the appendage WISE was in full verbal flight. It was money WISE, health WISE, I even heard wife WISE.

In 1966 the new word was ESCALATE. Vanished were expanded, enlarge, extend, increase, spread out. Everything ESCALATED.

In the East, particularly around Washington, a fashionable word was THRUST.

"Then the THRUST of your argument is so and so," a senatorial acquaintance said. "THRUST of my argument?" I asked.

"Yes," he replied, waving his arms. "You know--THRUST."

I told the senator I did not understand. I still don't.

Other Gilmore findings: preference for what Americans call light whisky, insisting on talking about the DRY MARTINI; talking of PARIS FRANCE, ROME ITALY and BERLIN GERMANY "as if they are places with a double-barrelled name, like New Haven"; and panty girdles are not a cross between a girdle and panties "but a long, leggy evolution of grandma's old-fashioned drawers." Eddy also notes that U. S. short skirts are not as short as those in Britain.

The new directory contains an alphabetical list of names and addresses of residents, business houses and institutions; a householders' directory including a street and avenue guide; a classified business directory; a yellow section or buyers' guide, and a statistical and historical story of the city.

Three Seek New Seat in House

CARUTHERSVILLE -- Three Pemiscot County men are seeking election to the new seat in the Missouri House of Representatives that is shared with Dunklin County, while only one Dunklin resident filed for the post before Tuesday's 5 p.m. deadline.

The Pemiscot candidates are Vic Downing of Bragg City, Leonard Kindred of Deering and Paul (Duke) Still of Steele. Attorney Charles Cable of Senath is the only Dunklin County man seeking the new seat that was created by the recent redistricting of the state.

Charles (Cat) Foley, who represents the eastern part of Pemiscot County, has the distinction of being the only candidate for the House in the east part of Missouri south of St. Louis to be unopposed in the August Primary.

Late filings last week gave the incumbents in both New Madrid and Dunklin counties opponents in the coming election.

Downing, who is a prominent farmer and civic leader, filed for the post several weeks ago as soon as the new district was announced.

Kindred, who is the owner and operator of Deering Gas and Appliance, filed in Jefferson City last Tuesday. He is an active leader in school and civic affairs in the Deering area.

Still filed for the office by mail. He is an auto dealer in Steele and has played an active role in Democratic politics on the county and state level.

While heavy filings were expected for the new seat it was expected that there would be more from Dunklin County. Local observers feared that this will split the Pemiscot vote, thus giving Cable an edge in the balloting.

Memorial for John England

CARUTHERSVILLE -- Back in the early 1940's John England, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh England, was graduated from the Caruthersville high school.

The world was at war at the time, but the commencement speaker managed to come up with the usual platitudes about the world still being for the young, that what they did with it was up to them.

John England didn't live to a ripe old age, but in a short 32 years proved that the world is for the young and brave. And the new jet memorial, mounted in City Park last week, is evidence that young John England took the world as he found it and made it his oyster.

Lt. Col. England was born and grew up in Caruthersville. After graduation, he went to work for Ralph Hutchison, and then entered cadet training in 1942 and received his commission the next year.

Lt. Col. England went on to become Missouri's No. 1 fighter pilot ace of World War II. As one of the youngest Wing Commanders in the Eighth Air Command in England, he received credit for downing 19 enemy planes.

At the end of World War II, he remained in the Air Force. He was named commanding officer of the 389th fighter Bomber Squadron at Alexandria (La.) Air Force Base in 1954. It was from this base that he and his group flew to Toul, France, and on Nov. 17 of that year, while returning from a routine mission his plane cracked up as he came in for a landing. Lt. Col. England died in the wreck.

On May 1, 1955, the Alexandria Air Force Base was renamed England Air Force Base after the young man who was graduated from the Caruthersville High School, not so many years previously, and who proved that the world still was for the young and brave. Lt. Col. England was buried at Arlington National Cemetery in Washington. He was survived by his wife and three children.

One of our great 19th-Century actors was reputed to have marked his trail of affairs d'amour with progeny. Not infrequently some claimant to his paternity would appear. Once, such a young man gained entrance to the actor's dressing room and introduced himself by saying, "I'm your son."

The actor peered intently at the youth for a moment. "So you are," he said and, turning to his valet, added, "Give the boy a pass."

THE SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES A Review of the 1964 Term

VI. CRIMINAL LAW: FAIR TRIAL

The problems of isolating a jury in a small Southern county with an almost-Faulknerian name of Tangipahoa Parish, Louisiana, were presented vividly in the 1964 term to the Supreme Court. In a context which suggests it would be ripe for a television serial, the Court held in Turner v. Louisiana that a defendant in a murder trial had been denied a fair trial by an impartial jury when two deputy sheriffs who were key witnesses for the prosecution had charge of the jury during the three-day trial and fraternized extensively with them outside of the courtroom during the trial. Mr. Justice Clark dissented on the ground that although this was an undesirable practice, absent a showing of prejudice, it was not unconstitutional. No doubt, the deputies were simply politicking. A reversal seems to be an overdose of corrective medicine in such a case, although the integrity of the jury process is an important value to be protected. Perhaps admonition to the State trial courts that repetition will be considered with a jaundiced eye would serve the purpose just as well.

If Turner was appropriate for television but never made it, then Estes v. Texas, which made television, was held to be inappropriate for it by the Court. In this case, the Court reversed one of the several convictions of Billie Sol Estes because parts of his trial were televised and broadcast. It is said that a single picture is worth a thousand words, but this case had lots of both, with six separate opinions and seven photographs overflowing from the reports. Mr. Justice Clark, who wrote the opinion for the court, relied heavily on Canon 35 of the Canons of Ethics of the American Bar Association, the Federal Rules, and the rules of 48 out of 50 States, which bar such broadcasting, yet he conceded that these were not standards of constitutional dimension. He elaborated at length the psychological tension on all concerned because of television, but failed to explain why this tension was not present when the courtroom was packed with reporters and spectators, as happens in any highly publicized trial, or why, if television increases the "distraction," it does so more than other forms of publicity. In short, his opinion substituted speculation for a showing of specific prejudice in this case.

Chief Justice Warren, with Justices Douglas and Goldberg, took thousands of words in a separate concurring opinion, to say the same thing. They also enlarged on the theatrical influences of a cause celebre might have, but likewise failed to specify why newspaper publicity might not have the same effect. According to them, television would make the trial into a show, rather than an objective search for truth. In a separate concurring opinion, Mr. Justice Harlan said the same thing, but limited his strictures to "notorious" trials.

Four Justices, Stewart, Black, Brennan and White, dissented, holding that there was no prejudice to Estes shown in this case, and that televising trials is not to be held unconstitutional per se. Because Mr. Justice Harlan, who cast the deciding vote, limited his opinion to the facts of the particular case, the only rule that emerges from the welter of verbiage is that televising Billie Sol Estes is unconstitutional. Considering Estes' other legal difficulties, even his benefit from this decision is more theoretical than real. The result of this mass collection of material is an interesting collection of illustrated essays which have yet to settle a y thing.

Two Hearings Are Waived

KENNETT -- Five felony cases were among the proceedings of Dunklin county magistrate court held with Judge Leon McAnally presiding and Charles H. Baker, prosecuting attorney.

Preliminary hearings were waived in two felony cases -- Rudy Edna Skelton, 40, of Senath, charged with leaving the scene of an accident, and Burton Moore of Kennett, charged with cashing a no account check. Both cases were bound over to Circuit Court. Moore's bond, set at $1,000, was posted.

The case of Danny K. Tittle, 21, of Malden, charged with cashing a no funds check, was dismissed at his costs because of his previous good record and the fact that restitution of funds had been made.

Two preliminary hearings, on felony cases were continued to May 5 -- Gary Belt, 17, of Parma, and Jerry Edwards, 17, of Clarkton, both charged with burglary and larceny.

In misdemeanor cases, other than traffic violations, Donald Joe Holland pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace and received a six-month jail sentence from which he was paroled upon condition of good behavior and payment of $10 costs. Three charges of violating the wildlife code were continued to May 5 -- Alford Licastro, Shirley Dawson and Thomas Dawson.

Hearnes Joins Society

COLUMBIA, Mo. AP -- Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, a University of Missouri law graduate in 1952, was made an honorary initiate of the order of the Colf, legal scholastic society, in law day ceremonies at the University of Missouri today.

Distinguished alumni awards were presented to Paul G. Koonz of Kansas City, a Missouri law graduate in 1918, and to James M. Douglas of St. Louis, a former judge of the Missouri Supreme Court and a graduate of Washington University in St. Louis. The alumni association's citation of merit went to Irvin Fane of Kansas City, a law graduate in 1928.

A man went with his wife to the mountains for a vacation. One day he returned from a hike all scratched and bruised. He told her he had met a snake on the trail.

"But don't you remember, the guide told us that the snakes up here aren't poisonous," she pointed out.

"They don't have to be when they make you jump off a 50-foot cliff," he replied.

Actor Looks Like Father

by BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) -- The young man's name is John Garfield Jr., and you recognize his parentage immediately.

You see the same deep-burning eyes, the easily-rumpled brow, the square cheekbones. You also catch glimpses of the same intensive energy. The only jarring note is his height -- a towering 6-foot-2 vs. his father's 5-9.

Young Garfield has come to Hollywood at age 22 -- his father was 30 before he made the journey. John Sr. was already a Broadway star when he made his film debut in "Four Daughters" in 1938.

His son has a year of stage repertory behind him and is starting with a two-page bit in "The Warning Shot," starring David Janssen. Oddly, Garfield is replacing Dodge pitcher Don Drysdale, who has gone on to other things.

Like all second generation performers, Garfield is aware of the assets and liabilities of bearing a famous name.

"It used to be a hang-up with me, but I've learned to live with it," he remarked. "Listen, it can be a real advantage in getting to see people who can help you. But of course that's all it does for you; then you're on your own." Young John was born here during his father's tenure as a Warner Bros. star -- "So in a sense I'm coming home." He moved to New York when he was 6, and his father died when the boy was 8. So his memories of his father are dim, but his image has been refreshed, thanks to television.

He defined what he had to say: That everyone should be accepted for what he is; that people should love one another.

Returning to New York, Garfield found work with the New York Shakespeare Festival, which brings the Bard to the people, wherever they may be.

He then joined the National Repertory Theater for a tour of the United States. That's when he decided on his name.

"So I decided to be John Garfield Jr. Why not? There are 8 million actors for every job. Why shouldn't I use a name that would at least get me through the door?"

Over a beautiful display of fruit in a big-city supermarket: "The management reserves the right to pinch back."

CHANCELLOR JOHN W. SCHWADA of the University of Missouri of Columbia inspects the branch library installed at Hatch Hall under sponsorship of the Men's Residence Hall association. With him are, left, Steve Huber, St. Louis, and Bob Haas of Chillicothe, president and vice president, respectively, of the association. Similar libraries are under consideration in other residence halls on the campus as a convenience to students.

Library opens in Residence Hall

COLUMBIA -- Not too many years ago the library at the University of Missouri was a convenient place for students to meet their friends.

Now the building, which houses one of the few college libraries with more than a million volumes, is such a busy place it isn't conducive to social life. Much of the time it is jam-packed for serious study and research.

Latest development on the Missouri campus is a pilot study for useful libraries in residence halls. It was initiated by the Men's Residence Hall Association and has resulted in a 250-volume library for Hatch Hall.

Steve Huber of 7433 Merillac, St. Louis, and Bob Haas of Chillicothe, president and vice president of the Men's Residence Hall Association, respectively, initiated the move to provide the dormitory libraries in response to demand of residents. If successful, and there are growing indications that it is, the program will be expanded to other dormitory complexes on the campus.

The Association sent Huber to Chancellor John W. Schwada to determine if the plan was feasible.

"When I learned that the Association thought so much of the idea it was willing to help finance it, I was convinced of their interest," Chancellor Schwada said. "If students need them, want them, use them, and if they serve a useful purpose, we will put libraries in all the dormitories."

The Hatch dormitory has about $500 worth of books purchased by the Association or contributed by students. Then the shelves were stocked with books from the University General Library, selected after a review of major study interests of some 1,100 students in the complex. A dozen or so magazines were added.

The books can be checked out on a two-hour basis, or overnight at the time the office closes. They are located within a few steps of the dormitory study hall on the ground floor.

"Much of the time the books aren't even checked out," Huber said. "A student comes to the counter needing a book for reference purposes, looks up what he wants, and goes back to the study hall."

Hatch residents expect the program to expand. When permanent shelves were purchased, a second section was installed that will permit enlarging the library to 1,500 to 2,000 books as demand grows.

The small dormitory libraries do not and are not meant to replace the University Library, however. Only in a general way can reference books be "farmed out" to the dormitories. Most must be kept at the central location for availability to all students. But the dormitory libraries are proving useful, and often make unnecessary a cross-campus trip to obtain a book for reference purposes.

Hearnes Praises Flat River

FLAT RIVER, Mo. AP -- Gov. Warren E. Hearnes praised the people of Flat River Saturday night for winning one of the 13 All-America city awards.

He said Flat River's selection by Look Magazine and the National Municipal League is a tremendous honor and a tribute to its courage, intelligence and practical application of new ideas in a changing society.

"When the lead mines faltered a few years ago," the governor said in a speech prepared for the award dinner, "you could have thrown up your hands and sat down to wait for help to arrive from some as yet unforeseen source."

"Instead, you launched a program to attract new business, improve businesses already on the scene and make your city the enjoyment of living here."

"You passed two bond issues, improved your street and sewer systems, built a new swimming pool and provided an efficient garbage collection system. Your record of achievement was first spotlighted statewide in Missouri and now the entire nation knows of your accomplishment."

Possible Power Shift in China

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON AP -- Deepening mystery over the fate of Mao Tse-tung spurred speculation among U.S. officials today about a possible power shift in Red China with worldwide repercussions.

The belief that the Chinese Communist leadership may be approaching a transition period is one of several reasons for recent overtures by the Johnson administration to reduce tensions and lower barriers between Red China and the United States.

All these gestures have been rebuffed by the Peking regime, but administration experts believe they may have an impact on the foreign policy attitude of future Chinese leaders.

The United States and, so far as Washington authorities can determine the Soviet Union, also, have been watching the Mao mystery develop for several months with growing fascination.

The interest of Soviet leaders in the possibility of personality changes in the top of the Peking ruling group is believed here to be a prime cause of their determination to hold the door open to some sort of Soviet-Chinese reconciliation.

The Chinese refused to attend a recent Communist Party meeting in Moscow but the Soviets nevertheless left the way clear for some later improvement in relations.

Mao's situation is regarded here as the key to what is likely to happen in Peking in the next few weeks or months. But it is a key which the outside world, reportedly including Soviet as well as American experts on Chinese Communist affairs, does not presently understand.

He did not appear at Sunday's May Day celebration. Another cause of the belief here that Mao is or has been seriously ill is the fact that the Chinese press has been engaged for more than a month now in virtually defying him.

The view that Chinese leaders who carry on after Mao inevitably will do things differently is widely held among U.S. experts on China. They do not, however, expect any sudden changes in policy direction, especially so far as the United States is concerned.

It is assumed here that the top leadership under Mao will continue whenever the reins of power pass from the hands of the old leader. This group includes President Liu Shao-chi, Premier Chou En-lai, Defense Minister Marshal Lin Biao and Foreign Minister Chen Yi.

So far as Washington authorities know, all these men are dedicated to the theories of aggressive communist world revolution—a major source of conflict between China and other nations, including the Soviet Union and the United States.

Beyond such men as these, Western experts have little idea who might eventually succeed to power in China, but U.S. authorities on China believe that after a period of time in the post-Mao era a power struggle among personalities inevitably would develop and some of the younger men in the political structure might have different ideas about China's foreign relations.

It is to these unknown men and this more distant future that the recent change in emphasis in U.S. policy has been directed.

However, the immediate causes of this shift of emphasis are more contemporary. The Johnson administration obviously has been trying since last December to develop a better tactical position for the next battle in the United Nations over the proposal to vote Red China into membership.

The close vote on this issue last fall caused U.S. officials to re-examine their position. Overtures since then include a policy decision to let U.S. doctors and public health authorities visit China, a decision to let Chinese newsmen come to the United States, and most recently, the granting of permission to various American universities to invite Chinese Communist scholars to come here.

Peking's response has been negative. These same moves also were calculated by the administration to offset the criticism by some members of Congress of a too rigid policy toward Red China.

The Prayer

For Today From The Upper Room

These words, which I command thee this day, shall be in thine heart; and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up.

PRAYER: Dear heavenly Father, we thank Thee for this beautiful world Thou has given us. Help us to remember to be good witnesses for Thee wherever we may be. In Jesus' name we pray. Amen.

Why make an effort to get the Iron Mountain depot and move it to Malone Park and turn it into a gymnasium. You know we are to have a new modern station at an early date and it may be necessary to move the old building and here would be a splendid opportunity to secure a building at a minimum cost.

ANN LANDERS

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: You were wrong, wrong, wrong when you said people should have ash trays around for guests who smoke even if they don't smoke themselves. Why? To encourage the filthy habit? Ash trays are an invitation to smoke. When there are no ash trays a guest should take the hint.

We have no ash trays in our home because we don't want people to smoke. If a guest asks if he may light up we tell him (as politely as we can) to take his cigarettes outside. He can like it or lump it.

I happen to know you are a non-smoker, Ann, and that you have repeatedly spoken out against tobacco. In a recent column you told a teen-ager, "Smoking is a dirty, offensive, expensive, ugly habit and we now have indisputable evidence that it is damaging to health. Don't start."

Why did you suddenly abandon this stand? Please explain. DEEPLY DISAPPOINTED
Dear Deeply: You are right, I was wrong. I plead temporary insanity and recommend that my punishment be 10 lashes with a wet tobacco leaf. When there are no ash trays in sight a guest should indeed take a hint.

You are correct when you say

I am a militant anti-cigarette girl. I blast the weed whenever I can--in fact I've been accused of being a bit of a nut on the subject. I know someone who is even nuttier than I am and I'm going to print part of his column which appeared in the Minneapolis Tribune. The writer is Will Jones and this is what he had to say:

"An open letter from a Non-Smoker to All Smokers: Having trouble kicking the habit? Well, I'm sick of hearing about it. I'm sick of the whining and hawing and yapping about the surgeon general's report. I'm bored with all the jokes about the trouble you're having trying to give up cigarettes."

"For 40 years I've lived in a world dominated by smokers. I've complained very little. I've accepted the fact that this is a smoker's world. But I'm through being quiet about it."

"Do you know how you smokers look to those of us who don't smoke? You are ill-bred, ill-mannered, inconsiderate slob. You may think you look glamorous like the smokers in the ads and the movies, but you don't. You have a nasty habit and you look ridiculous. Furthermore you stink. Your clothes stink, your breath stinks and you stink up the world around you."

"I play a little game with women who expect me to light their cigarettes. I out-wait them. Some give up and light their own. Others ask for a light. Last night one babe said, 'Well, aren't you going to light my cigarette?' I replied, 'No. I'd rather you didn't smoke.' She lit up anyway and that got me mad. I grabbed the cigarette out of her mouth, snuffed it out and tore it to shreds."

"Do you think I am rude?" I asked. "Yes," she answered. "I am not half as rude as you," I told her.

"I've had it up to here with sore, red eyes caused by other people's smoke. I've had it up to here with burned rugs and floors and furniture because of cloths who not only are slaves to a habit but are so fumble-fingered they can't even handle it. And unless you smoke in absolute fireproof privacy, with other smokers, you are intolerable. You are the enemy."

No teen-ager is as confident as he appears. Get clued in. Send for Ann Landers' booklet "Dating Do's and Don'ts," enclosing with your request 35¢ in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

While others were busy at various activities of debatable importance, my mother began washing walls. "Well," she told the assemblage at supertime, "I've got four walls done and a little start on the ceiling." We craned our necks to admire dutifully, and there on the gray ceiling, spelled out in spick and span white, was the message "HEL P!"

"Why I prefer the Daily Standard as my source of information in buying all family needs."

I prefer the Daily Standard to all others because it gets the news faster, you don't have to look all over for articles about current events such as comparing things that happen today with a year ago. That is why I love the Daily Standard to all other.

Two Admit Burglary

CAPE GIRARDEAU -- Two of the three men suspected and held in the burglary of a coin collection from the Cooper Vending Co., have admitted burglarizing the Senath-Hornerville Junior High School in Hornersville on April 20.
Approximately $250 in currency, two watches and a ring were taken from a concrete vault which was entered by knocking a hole in the wall. The two, who have admitted the Dunklin County burglary, are David D. McFarlin, 32, and Maurice D. O'Bryen, 25, both of Senath. The third suspect involved in the Cape Girardeau coin collection theft investigation is Wilbur G. McFarlin, 45, of Bangor, Mich.
The pair who admitted the school burglary said that Wilbur

McFarlin was along at the time but was in the car and did not enter the building.
All three suspects are scheduled to go before Magistrate Judge Roland G. Busch of Cape Girardeau County for the burglary of the coin collection, valued at $9,000.

Hoyt Butler Leads Lions

PARMA -- Hoyt Butler was elected president of the Lions club at the April meeting.
Other officers are first vice president, Randal Ramsey; second vice president, Tom F. Womack, third vice president, Lance Morgan; secretary-treasurer, Lynn Leigh; Lion tamer, Encl Knight; tall twister, Doug Stinson and members of the board of directors, W. L. Ramsey and Ted Morgan. Officers will be installed at the May meeting.

Levee Party Broken Up

CARUTHERSVILLE -- State troopers broke up a teen-age drinking party April 22 in which they estimated 30 to 40 young people were involved.

Trooper Roy Jones and Trooper John Greer answered a call to a place on the river side of the levee west of the video tower.

Trooper Jones said that as the patrol car crossed the levee most of the group fled on foot and in cars across the fields but they managed to "catch" three boys and were told that they were hiding in bushes.

Mr. Jones told the Democrat-Argus that no arrests were made, since at the time he and Mr. Greer did not know whether they were empowered to make arrests on private property under the circumstances. The land is owned by St. Francis Levee District.

Since then he said they have learned that they can make such arrests and expect to arrest and prosecute anyone they catch involved in wild parties in the future.
Local officers said the youths have laid out an "obstacle course" in the area where they race their motorcycles and Hondas, and apparently they have had other "wild parties" there in recent months.

Trooper Jones said they found at least 15 cases of beer and a quantity of whiskey, also that there was an older woman there selling the liquor. Again, no charges were filed.

FESTIVE FINERY — It's a far cry from the fashions of her native Copenhagen for Queen Anne Marie of Greece, who donned the local finery while in the Greek province of Epirus for a state ceremony. The Danish-born queen attended religious services celebrating the anniversary of the city of Ioannina's liberation from Turkish rule.

Army Toughens Up on Dodgers

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON, AP -- The Army is getting tougher with Reserves and National Guardsmen who dodge drills with their units, it was learned today.

Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, recently ordered demotion of any Reserve or National Guardsman ducking too many drills. The demotion would be for inefficiency.

Another part of Johnson's order provides that certain draft-age guardsmen and reservists who fail to keep up their obligated drills may be referred to Selective Service for two years of active duty.

The order specified that three unexcused absences in any year "are considered excessive."

The new penalties are in addition to an existing requirement that any guardsman or reservist failing a drilling obligation may be called to active duty for 45 days of training.

Most National Guardsmen and Reserves in the ready reserve are required to drill with their units 48 times a year. Men serving in the highest-priority units must attend 72 drills a year.

The demotion in rank, according to Johnson's order, will be imposed before a man begins his 45-day active duty training penalty.

There is special emphasis on National Guard and Reserve training currently because of the Viet Nam situation and, particularly in the case of highest-priority units, because of a drive to get a 150,000-man "select force" in top readiness by July 1.

The men who would be vulnerable for "priority induction" are Reserves or National Guardsmen below 26 years of age who have signed up for four to 10 months of basic training in a regular Army center, but who have not yet been able to undergo this training.

Because of overcrowded Army training centers, there currently is a backlog of more than 120,000 men obligated to serve with their Reserve or National Guard units for as much as 5 1/2 years after their brief basic training.

While awaiting openings at Army training centers, these men now are required to drill with their Reserve and National Guard units. Meanwhile, they remain draft-free.

Endorse $250,000 Bond Issue

POPULAR BLUFF -- Employees of the H. W. Gossard Company and delegates at the Central Labor Council meeting Thursday night have endorsed the no-tax-increase $250,000 bond issue to expand the Gossard Artemis plant and provide employment for 100 more residents in Tuesday's special bond issue election.

The union employees have joined Chamber of Commerce, service and civic club members in working for a big turnout of voters Tuesday since the proposition must receive a two-thirds majority under provisions of Missouri's bond issue statutes.

In a statement, a spokesman for the Gossard employees said: "We, as employees of the H. W. Gossard Company of Poplar Bluff and residents of the city endorse the expansion of the plant wholeheartedly."

"We realize this is the best opportunity for employment for women in Poplar Bluff, with the exception of the Government office employees."

"We appreciate good working conditions, a clean shop and fair pay in exchange for quality work."

"We would like to share this opportunity with others of Poplar Bluff who are seeking employment."

At a meeting of the Central Labor Council Thursday night, the delegates expressed their wholehearted approval for the endorsement of the bond issue for the proposed addition to the H. W. Gossard plant.

Fastest Guns In West

STANTON, Mo. AP -- Mr. and Mrs. Bob Graham may be the fastest guns in the West -- or anywhere else, for that matter.

The Houston, Tex., couple proved Sunday in the National Fast Draw Association's world championship that they are the fastest guns around.

Graham, 31, a bespectacled bank-equipment salesman, won his second straight world championship. He averaged .45 of a second -- drawing, shooting and hitting targets -- in the contest's four classes.

His wife, Merrill, 21, a long-haired blonde who looks as good as she shoots, won the women's title with an average drawing and shooting time of .61 of a second. Her fastest was .44. "I can give the average person a pistol, have him cock it and point it at me and draw and fire before he can," said Graham who uses a modern plastic-lined holster for the old Western sport of gunslinging.

Vote AGAINST Reorganization

We ask the voters of School District No. 6 and School District 5, the following questions:

1. Why haul Sikeston 9th graders to R-5 (Morley-Vanduser) School, a distance of eight miles, and the 7th, 8th, 10th, 11th, and 12th graders from R-5 (Morley - Vanduser) to the schools in Sikeston?

A. How much additional tax money will be required to pay for this additional bus transportation?

B. How much time per day will the children have to spend riding a bus?

2. Why didn't the R-5 (Morley - Vanduser) School Board hold meetings to inform the public and endeavor to get the public's view on re-districting before recommending re-districting?

A majority of people of R-5 (Morley - Vanduser) are satisfied with their present school system.

3. Would not the fair method be by annexation, whereby the voters of R-5 (Morley - Vanduser) would hold an election to decide whether or not they wanted to come to Sikeston? If they voted Yes, then Sikeston would hold an election to decide whether or not to accept them.

Please help us keep our children in our schools.
